

COUNTY TOWNS LEAD CITY IN W. S. S. DRIVE

Large Investments Obtained but Figures Given Out Are Only Those Taken and Audited--Pledge Cards Duly Signed Only Will Be Audited--Large Thousand Dollar Individual Returns.

To the Captains and Workers of the War Savings Committee of Ulster County:—

We are on the way to Berlin with your help by loaning money to the government for the support of our armies. The Imperial German government will bear the voices of the Allied armies singing: "The Star Spangled Banner," "Marsellaise," "The Warbling Italian," "God Save the King," and "The Wearing of the Green" on German soil. The people of Ulster must do their duty and their whole duty. The government will know who contribute and who do not contribute.

WM. D. BRINNIER,
Chairman Ulster County W. S. S. Committee.

Pledged to W. S. S. County—	(Saturday report)	$ 52,376.00
Pledged to W. S. S. County—	(Monday report)	8,000.00
Pledged to W. S. S. City—	(Monday report)	10,252.00

Total Audited in Signed Pledge Cards $ 73,173.00

"There's nothing to it," unless it's a signed pledge card. The captains and their teams are expected to keep that in mind through every step in the various stages of the War Savings Drive.

It is probable that the actual reports of investments pledged in War Savings Stamps exceed $75,000 even if not more than that.

Take the telephone messages, the slips of paper and the unsigned cards, in some cases cards which are merely inscribed with the name of the presumed contributor that an active and zealous solicitor has written upon it (instead of getting the actual signature) and the aggregate runs far above the figures given out here.

The solicitor knows that the man has pledged the amount to him individually. He knows the pledge is good for it. He is in a hurry to move on. Or he has stopped his friend who wants to get on and hasn't time to bother to sign it. "Put me down; count me in," says the pledgee.

So the card with many others like it comes to the auditing committee which meets every night at the Y. M. C. A., with many others representing pledges not yet signed. The auditor, refuses to give pledges like that any official recognition and he is right. He knows what it means for the banks—in what has to follow at specified periods. Besides, telephone and written messages, scraps of paper are not pledges.

"There's nothing to it."

Saturday's Audited Reports.
If there is any differentiation in sizing up the canvass in city and country districts it is in favor of the country districts.

Saugetries of course leads. Saturday night was the latest tabulation that it would be fair to Saugetries to give out. Owing to the conditions of canvass just explained. Officially Saugetries had "Spiked Down" $10,000 Saturday night.

That is the audited report. The nearest district to approach it throughout the county was the First ward which is credited with an audit of returns amounting to $9,250. Next to that came the Eighth ward with $5,485; then the Twelfth ward with $5,000.

Other towns and wards which on Saturday, the first day, exceeded $1,000 were:

Eleventh ward, $2,440; post office force $2,920; Second ward $2,475; Fourth ward, $2,000; Seventh ward, $1,700; Marlborough, First District, $1,496; Tenth ward, $1,460; Marlborough, Second District, $1,355; Marlborough, $1,205; the Thirteenth and Ninth wards, each, $1,000.

Those figures of course are largely swelled by Monday's returns and actual pledges obtained, but it is not safe to report more definitely than herein reported, until the auditing has gone on farther.

The First "Over the Top."

Denning is the first of all to have gone over the top. The quota for that little town is $2,000. The audited report is $2,500.

The most startling result, which was quick and effective work, came from the meeting held at Katrine Monday evening. Theodore Brink was chairman and William D. Brinnier and A. J. Cook the speakers.

Pledges for $1,000 investment in War Savings Certificates are acknowledged from Dr. E. H. Loughran, Sarah B. Reynolds, William F. Rafferty and Mrs. Grace Young of the city; J. V. Merriew, Olive; Peter and Mary O. Black, Rosendale.

Pledges at that meeting aggregated $2,545.00, of which $2,000 were pledged by two members of the thousand dollar limit club.

Mayor Canfield came into the meeting last night with another cartload of pledges from the First ward, but the cards failed to reach the auditing committee.

That the city is not coming up to the requirements expected of it is indicated by City Chairman Wm. C. DeWitt, who gave out this statement: "I warn the public against pledging for too small an amount individually. One War Savings Stamp, $4.17, is not sufficient. Kingston will fall far behind the county if this practice continues. I wish to emphasize this danger to captains and workers in the city. Kingston's quota of $500,000 will not be reached if these small pledges of one or two War Savings Stamps are accepted. Get the quota of $20 in each case from the earning member of each family.

(Signed) WM. C. DEWITT,
"City Chairman."

County Chairman Brinnier issued the following order:

To the Captains and Workers, and all interested in this campaign to loan $1,400,000 (Ulster's quota) to the U. S. Government:

You are hereby notified to be at the Y. M. C. A. headquarters on Wednesday evening, June 27, at 8 o'clock, without fail. Important suggestions for the success of the campaign will be given at that meeting.

WM. D. BRINNIER,
Chairman Ulster Co. Committee.

Pastor Fred T. Schroeder of the Immanuel Lutheran Evangelical Church, was not present last evening as he was expected to be. It was announced that he would surely be at tonight's meeting and those in attendance "would meet with a surprise that would please all" when they hear him describe the great work that has been done by his Church War Savings Stamp Society.

All captains, at least, are expected to be present tonight. It is also announced that reports sent in from the towns should include in registered mail the pledge cards. The reports may be franked through the mails and it is not difficult to mail what have been gathered during the day at night.

Chief Rodney A. Chipp of the city fire department, made a tour of all the fire stations on Friday, June 21, and organized a War Savings Society with the members of the paid fire department.

The speakers were received at all stations enthusiastically and the paid department enrolled a hundred per cent. Chief Chipp was elected president, and Deputy Chief Joseph Murphy, secretary.

County Chairman Wm. D. Brinnier has appointed on the committee to the Thousand Dollars Limit Club, in addition to the enrollment previously published in The Freeman:

GERMANS START NEW FAKE PEACE MOVE

Speech by Von Kuhlmann Will Have No Effect on the War Situation, as the Allies Will Consider It As Not a Genuine Peace Move.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, June 25.—At the very moment when the state department was making public confidential advice showing that Germany was preparing the German people for realization that the great war of 1918, the cables brought to Washington this afternoon word that Germany's anticipated peace offensive had been initiated.

The first gun was fired by Dr. Richard von Kuhlmann, Germany's foreign secretary, and was typical of German junkerism. It already has been answered, officials point out, both by President Wilson in his "force to the uttermost" address, and by Secretary of State Robert Lansing in his Union College speech when he declared that the war must go on "until the German people realize that their military masters cannot dominate the world."

Until the complete official text of Dr. von Kuhlmann's address is received here official comment must be withheld. In fact it was considered entirely probable that the first comprehensive utterance on the subject will come from President Wilson himself when he makes his promised address at Mount Vernon on July 4th. This address already is expected to be one of the most important ever made by the president, and officials expect him to tell the Central Powers not only some rather unpleasant truths, but also to reveal at least in part the plans to be followed in restoring conquered Russia.

Privately, however, officials declared that the von Kuhlmann speech will make no change in the war situation. It simply demonstrates they said, the utter inability of the Prussian leaders to understand that the world will have nothing to do with a "German-made peace."

As an instance of the utter hypocrisy of the entire address a high administration official pointed out that the attitude of the Entente and the United States toward Belgium has been known to the world since the opening gun of the war was fired. Dr. von Kuhlmann's declaration that Germany does not wish to bind herself while "our adversaries do not express themselves" was declared to be on a part with the original "scrap of paper" characteristic.

One significant statement by Dr. von Kuhlmann, officially carefully pointed out, was his statement that the German allies "want freedom of trade" to all parts of the world. This is a renewed official admission that Germany realizes her enemies, through an economic boycott are in a position to hold Germany to strict accountability after the war. Taken in connection with previous utterances by Herr Ballin, the German steamship leader, and other German trade leaders, the statement of the German foreign minister was believed here to be far more apparent than appears on the surface. The entire address of the German foreign minister, officials declared, was plainly another appeal for a "made-in-Germany" peace and they said that it will receive scant consideration either in the chancelleries of Europe or here in the capital of the United States.

Berlin, via Basle, June 25.—"Germany and her allies wish to live with the frontiers traced by history, with possessions beyond the seas corresponding to our greatness and richness and our capacity for organization," declared Dr. Richard von Kuhlmann, the German foreign secretary, in an address before the Reichstag, defining the war aims of the Central Powers.

The foreign secretary also said that the German allies want freedom of trade to all parts of the world.

"Regarding Belgium we do not wish to bind our hands while our adversaries do not express themselves," added Dr. von Kuhlmann.

"We hope that our enemies will understand it is a dream and an illusion to hope to fight successfully against means which we have at our disposal and that they will find that the moment has come to make peace offers corresponding to the situation, satisfying the vital necessities of Germany."

Washington, June 25.—Germany already is preparing the people "back home" for an admission of failure of the entire 1918 campaign against the Allies, according to confidential information received by the state department today.

The department withheld its source of information but it made it plain that it was entirely authentic.

According to the report the German governmental agencies and newspapers are now engaged in mak-

WARNING AGAINST PEACE RUMORS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, June 25.—While in no way discounting the widespread disaffection throughout Austria with the possibility that the effectiveness of the Dual Empire as a factor in the present war may be materially interfered with, officials today sounded a note of warning against any belief that peace is in sight.

Attention was called to the fact that the German military control over Austria remains as complete as ever. Complete collapse of Austria, officials familiar with the situation pointed out, would result in the downfall of Germany. Because of this it is believed here in the capital that Germany will insist that Emperor Charles put down the internal rioting with an iron hand. If necessary German troops of the veteran classes, who are none too effective on the front firing lines, will be sent into Austria, according to information reaching this city.

The one effect of the rout of the Austrians by the Italians is expected to be a hastening of the next German blows in the west. All of the information reaching this city indicates that Ludendorff is strengthening his forces at several points and a new drive from one of these is looked for. If the army experts here have any idea where this blow is to be struck they decline to indicate. Naturally they still consider that the great German objective is the Channel ports and they believe that all movements ordered by the German high command will be intended to carry out that objective if possible. However, they declare that the next German blow will find the Entente and American forces in far better shape to receive it and insist that it will gain less territory than any of the movements attempted in the last three months.

ing it plain to the people that certain developments very likely will make it impossible completely to overrun France this year as was promised last spring. However, these agencies are explaining that next year the situation will be much better from the standpoint of Germany and that then France will be overcome and England and America defeated.

The information also says that the German agents are making it plain that men released from the army this year will develop a new phase of submarine warfare which will make the submarine a potent weapon to starve out England. In this connection captured documents taken from German officers dwell on the fact "after the war" Germany will be in much better shape to proceed to conquer Egypt and India. Just what is meant by "after the war" state department officials say they do not know.

ITALIAN PAPER REPORTS AUSTRIANS SURROUNDED

Must Surrender or be Annihilated, Says Dispatch From the Front to Newspaper in Rome--Cavalry Pursues the Enemy--Thousands of Austrians Killed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, June 25.—"The troops of Archduke Joseph and General Wurm have been surrounded and must surrender or they will be annihilated," the correspondent of the Giornale d'Italia today wired from the front, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome.

Earlier reports received over night had emphasized the crushing manner in which the Austrians have been defeated. The magnitude of the Italians' victory grows more apparent with every fresh report. The Austrian retreat has been turned into virtually a debacle.

Italian cavalry that crossed to the eastern bank of the Piave has pursued the retreating Austrians mercilessly. Italian infantry divisions pressed on close behind the cavalry and the fleeing Austrians were given no chance to reassemble their forces.

Thousands of Austrians have been killed in their retreat. The Italians have advanced over ground literally covered with bodies of Austrian soldiers. The Italians have rushed horse artillery forward at great speed and the big guns have played havoc in the ranks of the Austrians.

The latest report on the number of prisoners taken by the Italians was an unofficial dispatch from Rome, which stated that the prisoners now totalled 45,000. The official office announcement said the prisoners totalled 4,000 but officials pointed out that this referred to Sunday's operations and that the Italians have achieved their biggest success since that time.

Washington, June 25.—Reports that the armies of Archduke Joseph and General Wurm had been surrounded and would be annihilated unless they surrendered, failed to impress army officers in the war department here today. They pointed out that General Wurm is in command of the Fifth Austrian Army, composed of probably fifty divisions and stretching from the mountains to the sea. To surround such a force would be an operation so gigantic, they believed, that it was next to impossible, under present conditions.

It was recalled that when the recent floods carried away bridges around Montello, some 40,000 Austrians were cut off. These were a part of General Wurm's command, and the belief was expressed that it was this force that had been surrounded.

Archduke Joseph's command has not yet been identified, it was said. Rome, June 25.—Six hundred additional prisoners have been captured by the Italians bringing the recorded total to more than 5,000, said advices from the front today.

These include only the captives taken between the old and new Piave fronts.

On account of rapidly of the Italian advance and the general confusion which always follows such quick operations only meagre accounts have come from the fighting zone so far.

The Piave river is still flooded and the freshet to some extent has hampered the Italian advance. Bridges across which the pursuing troops had to march, were swept away by the torrent.

Unless the river falls, it was stated today, it is unlikely that the major operations on the Piave front will last much longer. This is due to the difficulty in getting troops to the eastern bank to continue the attacks against the retreating Austrians.

The Italians have opened fresh attacks in the mountains zone (Sector of the Asiago) and have scored an advance there despite strong pressure from the enemy. There has been hard fighting in the Monte Bella and Monte Asolona sectors.

On the rest of the front the Austrians are now back to their old trenches east of the Piave.

The Italian war office has not yet announced the capture of 45,000 prisoners, as reported from Washington.

FIREMEN GRANTED INCREASE IN PAY

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of fire commissioners held Monday evening at Central Fire Station the board granted the members of the paid department an increase in pay of $10 a month. The increase affected seventeen men.

Fire Chief Chipp will now receive $1,540 a year; Deputy Fire Chief Murphy, $1,380; Superintendent of Fire Alarms Richard Elmendorf, $1,260, and the paid firemen $1,080 a year.

The board also transacted considerable routine business before adjourning.

Plattekill Grange Dance.

The Plattekill Grange will give an entertainment and dance Monday evening, July 1, at the Grange Hall, for the benefit of the Red Cross. An invitation is extended to all.

WAR AT A GLANCE

The Italian armies on the Piave front are now advancing beyond the lines which they held before the Austro-Hungarian offensive began eleven days ago.

Fighting continues with the Austro-Hungarian rear guard forces trying vainly to stem the Italian advance.

It is unofficially reported that a great Austro-Hungarian army has been cut off in the zone east of the Piave and that it must surrender or be annihilated.

Six thousand prisoners have been counted by the Italians up to date and huge stores of booty have been captured, including many big Skoda guns.

Italian infantry and cavalry continue to pursue hotly the retreating Austrian armies, decimating the ranks that stand up to oppose them.

This, in fact, is Italy's day.

In addition to the developments on the Italian front and the normal operations of a minor character that daily occur upon the western battle field in France, it is interesting and pertinent at this time to consider the political and economic happenings in the countries of the German alliance, all of which have a certain bearing upon the conduct of the war.

From a standpoint of shaken morale and depression Austria-Hungary comes first. Even before Austria had to admit her crushing defeat on the southwestern battle front the nation was in the throes of internal unrest. With her people starving and on the verge of revolt and with riots taking place in many cities, the smash on the Italian front came as a crowning climax.

In Germany the food situation is desperate and that the German government is coming to realize that the people are war weary and ardently desire peace was indicated strongly by a speech made before the Reichstag in Berlin yesterday by Dr. Richard von Kuhlmann, the German foreign secretary.

The German government has taken alarm over the plight of Austria-Hungary and is showing some anxiety over the territorial quarrel between Bulgaria and Turkey.

The strong pro-German ministry in Bulgaria, headed by Premier Radeslavoff, has collapsed and while it is announced that there will be no change in Bulgaria's foreign policy, the new cabinet is being watched keenly from Berlin.

Turkey is famine stricken and the Turkish population has been ravaged by many years of almost constant warfare. First came the Italian war, then the struggle with the Balkan states and finally the great war which has menaced the integrity of the Turkish empire with far greater dangers than any of the preceding conflicts.

Without considering the military situation and without heeding the possible inroads of Bolshevism from the east into the Central Empires, it would appear that economic and political conditions in the nations of the Quadruple Alliance are more unfavorable than they have been at any other time since the war commenced. On the other hand the political and economic positions of the Entente Powers were never better.

DRAFT LOTTERY

FRIDAY MORNING

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, June 25.—The second draft lottery will be conducted at the capitol Friday morning at 9 o'clock, it was announced by the war department today. At that time the order numbers of the 744,865 twenty-one year old registrants who enrolled on June 5 will be drawn.

Although only one-tenth of the number of men will be drawn this year, it is expected that the drawing will be marked with the same simple but impressive ceremony. Secretary of War Baker, with a roving Marshal General Crowder and members of the senate and house will be present. The same big bowl from which the drawing for 10,000,000 was conducted last year, will be used again. The numbers, printed on black paper and enclosed in capsules, will be deposited and shaken up. The numbers when drawn and read will be checked off on a huge blackboard where they may be easily seen by the telegraph operators who will flash them out over the country.

Officials estimated today that there would be only about 1,200 key numbers in the big bowl to be drawn this year as the total who will be affected is only 744,865. The drawing will be as careful as possible, however, and the key numbers will be recorded exactly as they were one year ago.

The Italian war office has not yet announced the capture of 45,000 prisoners, as reported from Washington.

FIREMEN GRANTED INCREASE IN PAY

At the regular monthly meeting of the board of fire commissioners held Monday evening at Central Fire Station the board granted the members of the paid department an increase in pay of $10 a month. The increase affected seventeen men.

WAR AT A GLANCE

The Italian armies on the Piave front are now advancing beyond the lines which they held before the Austro-Hungarian offensive began eleven days ago.

Fighting continues with the Austro-Hungarian rear guard forces trying vainly to stem the Italian advance.

It is unofficially reported that a great Austro-Hungarian army has been cut off in the zone east of the Piave and that it must surrender or be annihilated.

Six thousand prisoners have been counted by the Italians up to date and huge stores of booty have been captured, including many big Skoda guns.

Italian infantry and cavalry continue to pursue hotly the retreating Austrian armies, decimating the ranks that stand up to oppose them.

This, in fact, is Italy's day.

In addition to the developments on the Italian front and the normal operations of a minor character that daily occur upon the western battlefield in France, it is interesting and pertinent at this time to consider the political and economic happenings in the countries of the German alliance, all of which have a certain bearing upon the conduct of the war.

From a standpoint of shaken morale and depression Austria-Hungary comes first. Even before Austria had to admit her crushing defeat on the southeastern border of internal unrest. With her people starving and on the verge of revolt and with riots taking place in many cities, the smash on the Italian front came as a crowning climax.

In Germany the food situation is desperate and the German government is coming to realize that the people are war weary and ardently desire peace was indicated strongly by a speech made before the Reichstag in Berlin yesterday by Dr. Richard von Kuhlmann, the German foreign secretary.

The German government has taken alarm over the plight of Austria-Hungary and is showing some anxiety over the territorial quarrel between Bulgaria and Turkey.

The strong Bulgarian ministry in Bulgaria, headed by Premier Rade-Lachov, has collapsed and while it is announced that there will be no change in Bulgaria's foreign policy, the new cabinet is being watched keenly from Berlin.

Turkey is famine stricken and the Turkish population has been ravaged by many years of almost constant warfare. First came the Italian war, then the struggle with the Balkan states and finally the great war which has menaced the integrity of the Turkish empire with far greater dangers than any of the preceding conflicts.

Without considering the military situation and without heeding the possible inroads of Bolshevism from the east into the Central Empires, it would appear that economic and political conditions in the nations of the Quadruple Alliance are more unfavorable than they have been at any other time since the war commenced. On the other hand the political and economic positions of the Entente Powers were never better.

DRAFT LOTTERY FRIDAY MORNING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 25.—The second draft lottery will be conducted at the capitol Friday morning at 9 o'clock, it was announced by the war department today. At that time the order numbers of the 741,855 twenty-one year old registrants who enrolled on June 3 will be drawn.

Although only one-tenth of the number of men will be drawn this year, it is expected that the drawing will be marked with the same simple but impressive ceremony. Secretary of War Baker, with a roving Marshal General Crowder and members of the senate and house will be present. The same big bowl from which the drawing for 19,000,000 was conducted last year, will be used again. The numbers, printed on black paper and enclosed in capsules, will be deposited (and shaken up). The numbers when 1,200, and the paid firemen $1,950 a year.

The board also transacted considerable routine business before adjournings.

Plattekill Grange Dance.

The Plattekill Grange will give an entertainment and dance Monday evening, July 1, at the Grange Hall, as careful as possible, however, and the key numbers will be recorded exactly as they were one year ago.

SEVERE FROSTS INJURE CROPS

Gardens and Potatoes Hard Hit in the Catskills Last Wednesday Night—Snow Flurries on Sunday, June 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Graham were suddenly called to Schenectady last Tuesday on account of the illness of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arnold Graham.

No Sunday school was held in this place Sunday on account of the weather.

Flurries of snow visited this section Sunday morning, June 23.

Several ladies from this place attended the meeting of the Home Defense held at the home of Mrs. Vernon Marks, chairman of this town. Very pleasing and instructive talks were given by Mrs. Hill and Mrs. L. M. Wood, both of Kingston. The hostess served dainty refreshments at the close and all present felt that a profitable afternoon had been spent.

MOMBACUS HEIGHTS.

Mombaccus Heights, June 24.—Frank Green is having his barn remodelled. William DePuy and Charles Hartelius are doing the work.

The school picnic on Saturday last was a pleasant event, to the teachers and pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Van Etten of Mombaccus called on friends here Sunday.

Several from this place attended service at Mombaccus on Sunday afternoon.

The weather has been exceedingly cool for the past week or more, and on Thursday morning a heavy, white frost was visible to the early risers, doing but little damage to vegetation in this place however. At present we are having a much needed rain and it is hopeful that there will be a change for the better in the weather for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith and children, their brothers, Elroy and Lorin Smith, and Harold Van Etten enjoyed an auto ride to Napanoch and called on Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and family, Sunday.

Dr. Harker of Kerhonkson made a professional call in this place on Sunday.

H. E. Mitchell, the Rawleigh man, visited us once more on Friday of last week.

The pupils of this district passed the grade examination in a very creditable manner, which speaks well for the proficiency of the teacher and the fact that she was requested to return another year, prove that her work was appreciated by the majority, at least.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeWitt of Napanoch and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartelius visited, Joel Lennon and family on Sunday.

An elderly gentleman from New York city died very suddenly at Kerhonkson on Tuesday. He had accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lavine, with whom he had been boarding for a time, on a drive to that place, and expired almost immediately on reaching there. Heart trouble is supposed to have caused his death.

The Rev. G. W. Thompson was a guest of the Rev. A. Quick and wife one day recently.

Mrs. Stephen Churchwell, who is visiting her brother, Henry Osterhout, and family, called on Mrs. William DePuy one day last week. Miss Olive Smith is home for the summer vacation, having finished her term at the Ellenville high school.

Mrs. Fred Freer and Miss Grace Freer went to Kingston Point on Wednesday of last week.

William Witt and wife of New York city have been visiting Mr. Witt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. A. Witt, of West Esopus. Also, Mrs. Witt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George House, of Ulster Park.

The weather certainly proves an unfailing topic for conversation these days. On Sunday the thermometer did not get far from the 50 degree mark and a strong breeze blew steadily all day. One of the most comfortable places in the village was the Methodist Church, where the sexton, Elmer Lund, had a nice fire for both morning and evening services, and after removing coats and wraps could still imagine the temperature to be that of midsummer.

While this atmosphere was conducive to the comfort of the body the two excellent sermons delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Lyons, assuredly produced the same effect upon the spiritual nature.

The mumps are still prevalent in this village, several new cases having recently developed. Miss Charlotte House of New York city was a recent visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George House.

WORLD GRAIN CROPS PROMISE WELL

The following official report of the International Institute of Agriculture has been received from the American delegate, David Lubin, whose forecasts in the past have proved reliable:

The difficulty of obtaining their food supplies, experienced in the principal countries of Europe during the season 1917-18, has induced the governments concerned to guard against the occurrence of similar difficulties in the ensuing season, by an increase of national production. How far has this aim been realized? It is too early to give any accurate forecast but we are able to deal with two factors that allow us to form some idea as to what we have the right to expect from the agricultural production of 1918. These two factors include the extent of the areas sown, and the condition of the crops on 1 May after the final disappearance of winter.

The May Bulletin of Agriculture and Commercial Statistics published by the International Institute of Agriculture on both points of view. With regard to the areas sown for the season 1918, in the northern hemisphere, we find that of all the countries where definite figures are available, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Luxembourg, United States, British India, Japan, Tunis, indicate areas sown with wheat this year decidedly larger than those of the previous agricultural season. For the United States and for British India, in particular, the increase of winter sowings is about 5 per cent.

Only in Spain and Canada have the sowings decreased, but very slightly (about 2 per cent) in Spain, though 13 per cent in Canada. We must remember that we are dealing for Canada with winter wheat only, and that generally this description is no more than one-tenth of the total crop.

What was the condition of these crops on 1 May last? Here also there is reason for satisfaction. The information furnished by the Bulletin of Agriculture and Commercial Statistics allows it to be stated that the condition of crops at that date was very good in Ireland, good in Spain, Great Britain, France, Morocco and Tunis. The same may be said as regards the spring sowing in Canada, which, as we have seen, is much the most important crop in that country. Crop prospects were average ones in Italy, Switzerland, the United States and Egypt, and the position was a bad one only for the winter wheat crop of Canada.

In the United States, the Bureau of Crop Estimates, taking as a basis the condition of the winter wheat and rye crops in 1 April last, estimates that in these two cereals, estimates that, if circumstances are normal from that date till harvest time, the farmers of that country will reap 152,410 thousands of quintals of winter wheat and 21,845 thousands of quintals of rye. The crop in 1917 was 113,782 thousands for the first named, and 15,277 thousands of quintals for the latter.

To sum up we are enabled to state that, both on account of the increase in areas sown, and of the decidedly favorable condition of the crops on 1 May, we have the right to expect in the coming summer a better crop of food grain than that in 1917.

Rome, 23 May, 1918.

Human Machinery.
We have headaches and colds, not at all realizing our body is in need of some good, pure oxygen.

Mechanics take much better care of their machinery than they do of their own bodies. They know that unless the machine is cleaned, oiled and rested occasionally it will not run properly. How often do they think of the importance of caring for their human machinery? They run it at the highest tension, feed it on stale air and improper food and then become surprised if it runs down.

THE RECOILING BOOMERANG.

A warning to overreaching greed in every form is to be found in the recoiling boomerang which has smitten Germany and will continue its hard chastening for decades to come. One chief object of Germany's war for world domination was the "freedom of the seas," freedom as thus employed meaning domination, as certain of Germany's more frank or more reckless spokesmen boldly announced. Germany already had as much freedom at sea as any of the great nations and had built up a vast commerce, more than sixteen million tons of shipping entering and a slightly greater amount clearing from her three great ports in 1913. Every country of the world was open to her trade and she was free to import all the raw material needed in her manufactures. Yet, instead of letting well enough alone, greedy and imperious Germany planned a vast "game of grab."

But, instead of securing the domination of the seas through world conquest, she has only brought about her isolation from the rest of an outraged world and caused the world's material resources to be mobilized against her, a world of whose raw materials she was and is imperatively in need. Moreover, she has by her lawless course created an enormous American merchant marine which is destined not merely to rival but to crush hers by its very weight. The figures of our shipbuilding recently made public by Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, are of a character both to astonish Americans and to carry fear to the heart of Germany.

During the past eleven months we have constructed more tonnage than during the previous four years. Since our war against Germany began we have increased our shipping from all sources 1,500,000 tons. We turned out 225,000 tons in the month of May alone, which was 53,000 tons more than were produced during the entire year of 1915. Our present program calls for the building of 1,500 passenger, cargo and refrigerator ships and tankers, to say nothing of great numbers of barges, tugs, etc. We already have no less than 2,101 vessels in course of construction, and we now have 519 ships in operation. The United States Shipping Board is the world's greatest shipbuilder. No less than five billion dollars will be spent with a view to give America a merchant marine of 25,000,000 tons. This is but a part of what previously indifferent America has been caused to do in its own and the world's defense by a predatory Germany which has brought a recoiling boomerang down upon its own head.

DEPORTATION OF TRAITORS.

Naturalized persons who have expressed lack of determination to remain in Germany and who are satisfied as soon as possible, and after the war there will be a general desire to speed the departure of such undesirable residents who have never been accepted as citizens. Of or related to this class are twelve drafted men who, posing as "conscientious objectors," have refused to fight against Germany and whose deportation after the war Secretary Baker has recommended. In the case of the foreign-born this could be done by declaring their naturalization papers forfeited and by dumping them upon the country to which they have always really belonged. But it seems that several of them are native born, though of alien parentage. As these could not be forced upon another country uninvited, it would seem to be necessary to feed them until the expiration of their prison sentences.

What is to do later with such creatures, who will be universally abhorred even after twenty years in jail, has suggested the idea of a penal colony, something which this country does not possess and hitherto has not needed. Unless Germany will take them at the proper time and welcome them with iron crosses and such like, there will be no comfortable place for them in the world. No other country would have them and with such a brand on their foreheads life in America would hardly be worth living. Should

Germany fail to come to the rescue, therefore, they would be likely to welcome residence in a penal colony in self defense.

The latest rumor intended to discourage food production comes from Colorado where, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, farmers are being told that the Government will tax broom corn and other crops from $5 to $6 an acre. This latest lie is ridiculous, according to the department and the Bureau of Internal Revenue. D. C. Roper, Internal Revenue Commissioner, states that there is no foundation for it. Such taxes, it is explained, can be levied only by act of Congress. The Department of Agriculture warns against further attempts to discourage production by the circulation of rumors. Farmers and others who hear such rumors concerning food production are urged to communicate at once with their local authorities or county agents in order that action may be taken to suppress them.

The Woman's Civic Club has received a gift of $100 from Miss Ann Elizabeth Cox of Ellenville, New York, who gives the amount in honor of her aunt, Miss Kate M. Cox, who was for many years a resident of this city and an active member of the club. The donor is said to be very active in civic affairs in her home town and the money is given to the house fund of the club. F. B. Cox and W. S. Cox are at San Luis Obispo in the interest of the estate of the late Miss Cox, who died while visiting Ellenville relatives.

WORLD GRAIN CROPS PROMISE WELL

The following official report of the International Institute of Agriculture has been received from the American delegate, David Lubin, whose forecasts in the past have proved reliable:

The difficulty of obtaining their food supplies, experienced in the principal countries of Europe during the season 1917-18, has induced the governments concerned to guard against the occurrence of similar difficulties in the ensuing season, by an increase of national production. How far has this aim been realized? It is too early to give any accurate forecast but we are able to deal with two factors that allow us to form some idea as to what we have the right to expect from the agricultural production of 1918. These two factors include the extent of the areas sown, and the condition of the crops on 1 May after the final disappearance of winter.

The May Bulletin of Agricultural and Commercial Statistics published by the International Institute of Agriculture in Rome supplies interesting data on both points of view. With regard to the areas sown for the season 1918, in the northern hemisphere, we find that of all the countries where definite figures are available, Denmark, France, Great Britain, Luxembourg, United States, British India, Japan, Tunis, indicate areas sown with wheat this year decidedly larger than those of the previous agricultural season. For the United States and for British India, in particular, the increase of winter sowings is about 3 per cent.

Only in Spain and Canada have the sowings decreased, but very slightly (about 2 per cent) in Spain, though 13 per cent in Canada. We must remember that we are dealing for Canada with winter wheat only, and that generally this description is no more than one-tenth of the total crop.

What was the condition of these crops on 1 May last? Here also there is reason for satisfaction. The information furnished by the Bulletin of Agriculture and Commercial Statistics allows it to be stated that the condition of crops at that date was very good in Ireland, good in Spain, Great Britain, France, Morocco and Tunis. The same may be said as regards the spring sowing in Canada, which, as we have seen, is much the most important crop in that country. Crop prospects were average ones in Italy, Switzerland, the United States and Egypt, and the position was a bad one only for the winter wheat crop of Canada.

In the United States, the Bureau of Crop Estimates, taking as a basis the condition of the winter wheat and rye crops in 1 April last and the areas under these two cereals, estimates that, if circumstances are normal from that date till harvest time, the farmers of that country will reap 152,410 thousands of quintals of winter wheat and 21,845 thousands of quintals of rye. The crop in 1917 was 113,782 thousands for the first named, and 15,277 thousands of quintals for the latter.

To sum up we are enabled to state that, both on account of the increase in areas sown, and of the decidedly favorable condition of the crops on 1 May, we have the right to expect in the coming summer a better crop of food grain than that in 1917.

Rome, 23 May, 1918.

Human Machinery. We have headaches and colds, not at all realizing our body is in need of some good, pure oxygen.

Mechanics take much better care of their machinery than they do of their own bodies. They know that unless the machine is cleaned, oiled and rested occasionally it will not run properly. How often do they think of the importance of caring for their human machinery? They run it at the highest tension, feed it on stale air and improper food and then become surprised if it runs down.

You Fight When You Save!
A Country worth fighting for
is a Country worth saving for.

Each is a duty and both are
acts of the highest patriotism.

The Thrift Stamp movement
is one of the best things that could have happened to us; it is teaching every man, woman and child of us the glory of learning
to save wisely.

"Saying wisely" does NOT mean hoarding. Hoarding cramps the mind; dwarfs the soul; brings out all that is petty
and mean in human nature.

Thrift—REAL thrift, is not only the saving of money, but the USING of money so that it will be of the greatest benefit not only to one's self, but to others.

"Dollar Days" will enable everyone to save money while spending it—to save, that all may
—buy more Thrift Stamps!

By concentrating your purchases at Van Wageningen's this week, your reward in savings will enable you to greatly increase your buying of U. S. S.

KINGSTON NAMES ON BORDEAUX LIST

Loughran and Conway Had Been There—Found a Swimming Hole Near Camp—Weather to Make Heine Feel at Home.

President James E. Connolly of The Freeman Social Club has received the following letter from one of the five club members now in France:

Camp de Souge,
June 6, 1918.

Dear Jim:
There isn't a devil of a lot to write and I have so god-darn many letters to write that I don't know how to begin. I guess by now you know where I am stationed at present. As far as the war is concerned I might as well be over in Port Ewen or South Rondout, for we don't see a darn thing except once in a while an aeroplane loop the loop or takes a nose dive just to keep us amused. Of course I am well within the sound of the guns (at target practice). I might tell you how near the shot and shell scream overhead and burst in the rear of us back in the last line trenches. For you see the range is on one side of camp and the guns on the other and they shoot over our heads at the practice trenches out on the range. Might also tell you how I am within sound of enemy voices for we have a bunch of prisoners here. But what is the use when you know that I am only about 20 kilometers from Bordeaux and a good one day's trip by automobile and two days by Ford from the front.

Yes, Sherman knew all about war and then some. I guess I have tested out the war end but the other place I can't tell of yet.

I am having some difficulty in writing for I am using a three legged washstand for a desk and it is like some of the boys after pay day, just a bit uncertain on its legs. Say Jim, I would like to tell you some of the stunts we have pulled off over in this adopted home of ours. I have quite a collection, too. I never knew you could pack so much real new experiences in six short months. I agree with you when you say, "See America First," but by all means see Europe, and especially France, after you have seen America.

It is hotter out here than it is at 3:25 p. m. up in the composing room. I guess you will feel at home for he will probably think he is walking on one big steam table, that is if he should ever hit this part of the country.

I was down town last Sunday and went over to the "Y" where I found Jim Loughran's name and one of the Conway's on the "Y" register. The old town is represented at least.

Say, you ought to hear the peculiar sounds we get off and call French. I somehow can make myself understood at that. The first thing we learn is, Oul. Next Comien (how much?). And the third thing is, "Je ne comprends pas," which means, "I don't understand," and that is what we usually are saying when a French man (or woman) talks to us.

A few of us boys have found a pond where we can get a swim. It is about five miles from camp, but it is worth the trip. I was going down tonight, but had to work, so could not make it. It's one of those places where you hang your clothes on the bushes and if anyone comes along you submerge until they have passed, for even one piece suits are not to be seen in camp.

From what Ye City Editor writes there has been some change in newspaper circles since I left. Pretty nearly everyone has left, got fired or has been drafted. But I guess The Freeman will come through at that, judging from the samples I get at times. I average about 2-3 of the numbers and it seems to me the old town is just booming. You always seem to be able to put over some good stuff every day.

Life down here is just one dull day after another, with lots of work and I hope we will get a chance to move some time. It seems funny that all of the fellows who wanted to get down here in the south were sent up to Paris or even nearer the front while it was my luck to come down here. There is little use to ask for a change of station in this outfit, for you go where you are sent and say nothing, be it first line trenches or 300 miles in the rear.

I have about 'steen letters to answer, so must make it snappy. So will close with best regards to you and the "bunch." I am,

PVT. FRED HOFFMAN,
Q. M. C.,
Camp de Souge,
Bordeaux,
A. E. F., France.

Bigelow to Speak at Shady.

On the afternoon of July 4, Poulney Bigelow will deliver a patriotic address at that popular summer inn, The Sawkill Farmhouse, at Shady, which is being so successfully operated as an inn, for the first time this summer by the two noted artists, Dewing Woodward and Louise Johnson. The exercises at which Mr. Bigelow will be the most notable speaker, will take place on the spacious lawn, which will accommodate a host of people, and Miss Woodward and Miss Johnson extend a cordial invitation to their friends in Kingston to be present and an equally cordial invitation to all who would care to, to be present on this notable occasion. The exercises will take place at 4 o'clock. Undoubtedly the well known hospitality of the hostesses, together with the fame of the speaker, will draw a big crowd, for it is a delightful ride to the farmhouse, which is charmingly located near the old mill stream in the heart of the foothills of the Catskills.

My Visit at the Home of John Burroughs.

(By Max Schrabisch.)

It has been tersely remarked that the pride of a nation are its great literary men for the reason that they embody the highest thought of the race from which they have sprung. But for them, the world, in which we live, would be unbearably commonplace, without flavor and devoid of most all those things that alone make our existence worth living. Aristocrats of mind that they are, the ideals they hold are diametrically opposed to the gross materialism which brazenly stalks abroad and which has all but succeeded in enslaving and engulfing us by its appeal to our animal propensities. High living and low thinking being the slogan of the day, any influence apt to counteract the deplorable tendencies of our age is to be regarded as beneficial to the highest interests of mankind.

It is men of the type of John Burroughs that furnish an inspiring example to all that aspire to nobler things in that they do not allow themselves to be enthralled, body and soul, by the sordid business world. But, alas, how few pay the homage due to this venerable old sage of Ulster county, how few recognize his true worth? Take ideals reigning supreme, it is mostly the moneyed man or plutocrat that ranks high in public estimation, he alone being considered worthy of emulation as the presumable representative of what the world called success and the spurious prominence associated with it. To be sure, perverted popular opinion utterly fails to grasp the fact that true greatness is after all a matter of mind, of character, knowledge and ability, that it can never be a question of what we have but only of what we are, that, in short, man is accurately measured and appraised by the kind of mind he has.

When the writer called upon John Burroughs at West Park the other day, he was at once aware of being in the presence of a "man," even as Napoleon I. exclaimed "voilà un homme," after having visited Goethe. Although an octogenarian, John Burroughs' mind is as active as ever. His is, in truth, the mind of a man taking a profound interest in the great problems of science and life engrossing the attention of the leaders of thought. In the course of a conversation lasting more than an hour, the writer became impressed with his remarkable versatility and the wide range of subjects with which he was familiar. With characteristic modesty he disclaimed any particular knowledge of botany, saying that he knew only the commoner ones of the children of flora among the thousand indigenous to this country.

As for birds and their mode of life, however, he admitted possessing better and somewhat more comprehensive information. And these statements out of the mouth of a naturalist famed far and wide for his intimate knowledge of nature in many of its branches! To some this may seem a case of inverted hypocrisy. Far from this being the truth, it was simply the expression of a humility so often a distinguishing trait of men towering head and shoulders above insignificant ordinary mortals.

Touching upon the subject of anthropology and the probable antiquity of the race, he proved to be conversant with the results of the most recent researches made both on this continent and in the old world. This, he was thoroughly familiar with. Prof. Fairchild, Osborn's classic work, "Men of the Old Stone Age," it forming part of his library. And this library appeared to contain, apart from the writings of the great poets and philosophers of all the principal nations a great many of the important works of present-day scientists, dealing with biology, chemistry, physics, astronomy, ornithology, psychology, etc.

His interest in modern psychology, with its theories on the sub-conscious and telepathic phenomena, in particular, seemed to be most pronounced and he waxed enthusiastically while speaking of his late friend, Prof. James of Harvard, whose investigations in this field of study had made him famous the world over. Speaking of the evolution theory and its auxiliary science, geology, John Burroughs manifested a lively interest in both. Some time through the study of which he had, indeed, devoted much time for many years past, as they served to furnish him with many of the data for his most recent works containing his philosophy of life.

Most of the conversation took place on the back porch of his cottage, high upon the banks of Hudson river, with long stretches of the stream in plain view flowing majestically between verdant river terraces. A hummingbird alighting on a nearby shrub to sip the nectar of its blossoms, caused Mr. Burroughs to make some remarks on the unusually large number of birds nesting all about his cottage. When the writer expressed regret about his ignorance regarding birds, he at once offered to teach him, if he cared to come to Roxbury, Delaware county, the naturalist's birth place, where he intended spending the months of July and August. He added that, when there, he took vigorous exercise, making it a point to ascend the neighboring mountains whenever the weather and his bodily condition permitted, performing, though, this feat of mountain climbing by easy stages and resting at convenient springs.

At the suggestion of Mr. Burroughs the writer visited his log-cabin, named Slabside, about two miles southwest of his cottage. Here, at the edge of a swamp, flanked by a high ledge of rock, amid the green trees and wild flowers, Mr. Burroughs is wont to pass his afternoons writing stories and composing poetry. If the writer mistakes not, it was at Slabside that the naturalist wrote his well known book, entitled "Riverby."

A Patriotic Duty.
We owe it as a patriotic duty to ourselves and our friends to keep in a happy frame of mind. With depressed spirits we cannot do our best. And now, if ever, we should keep ourselves in such condition that we can fulfill to the utmost every duty imposed upon us. Let us cultivate daily the happy frame of mind which makes the rest of the world laugh with us.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONS SELDOM COME BACK

But Three Sets of Teams Have Accomplished This Feat.

Cubs, Tigers and Giants Are Only Clubs That Have Won Three Straight Pennants—St. Louis Browns Made Record.

If the Giants and White Sox meet in the world's series this fall they will be the fourth pair of teams to meet twice in succession for the title.

Baseball history dating back to 1884 shows that but three sets of teams have accomplished this feat before, and the Cubs and Tigers are the only teams in modern baseball history who have monopolized the big series for two straight years.

The famous Cubs of 1906 to 1908 won three straight pennants for Chicago in the National league, and their first world's series in modern competition between the National and American leagues resulted in defeat at the hands of the White Sox. The next two years, 1907 and 1908, the Cubs battled Detroit in the fall classic, and on both occasions they annexed the bunting.

Another interesting feature is the fact that the Cubs, Tigers and Giants are the only clubs that have won three straight pennants in either big league since the American league was formed.

In title series for the world's championship prior to the formation of the American league the Chicago Nationals and the famous old St. Louis Browns of the American association met two successive years for the championship—in 1885 and 1886. In 1885 and 1896 Cleveland and Baltimore met in what was known as the Temple Cup series, played between the first and second place clubs in the National league.

So the White Sox and Giants, picked by a majority of the critics to repeat in their respective leagues this year, have a chance to break into a rather exclusive class of world's series teams.

While mentioning past performances of ball clubs it appears that the old St. Louis Browns of Chris von Der Ahe established a record that will probably stand for many years to come. The Browns won four straight pennants in the old American association.

ASSISTANT MANAGER IS NEW

Coaches Are Things of Past in American League—Clarence Rowland Going It Alone.

There are no such things as coaches with American league clubs these days. The old-timers who get out on the lines and help move the runners around are "assistant managers." The club that doesn't carry such a prop to the manager is the exception. Here are some of the "assistant managers": Boston Red Sox, Charley Wagner; Cleveland Indians, Herman Schaefer; New York Yankees, Paddy O'Connor; St. Louis Browns, Jimmy Burke; Detroit Tigers, Bill Donovan; Washington, Nick Altrock and George McBride. Connie Mack has no assistant since Harry Davis retired and Clarence Rowland is going it alone except for a field captain since Kid Gleason quit him.

BODIE, MOST "KIDDED" PLAYER, IS YANK STAR

One of baseball's most ridiculed players is now the sensation of the Yankees. He is Ping Bodie, who has been kidded ever since he broke into the big leagues. Ping went to the White Sox heralded as a fence buster, and when he failed to live up to his reputation he was joshed so much that he had to leave the team.

But Bodie appears to have found himself. He has been largely instrumental in the rejuvenated Yanks winning. The club is climbing to the front, and Bodie's big stick is responsible.

Nothing Is Lost.

Everything lives, flourishes and decays: Everything dies but nothing is lost: For the great principle of life only changes its form, and the destruction of one generation is the vivification of the next.—Good.

Circumstances are beyond the control of man; but his conduct is in his own power.

DAINTY TABLE TRIFLES.

While strawberries are still too expensive for too frequent use, they may be used as a garnish or accessory, making a most tasty dish. A most delicious filling and icing for a cake may be made, using crushed fresh berries with a teaspoonful of lemon juice added and thickened with confectioner's sugar.

A few sliced berries may be used as a garnish for a gelatin dessert, for the sherbet cups of junket or for squares of angel cake with whipped cream and berries for dessert.

A little sugar added to the roast or stew will add to the flavor and it will brown with a richer color.

When the coffee cream has soured add a little soda and a teaspoonful of sugar; beat until well blended and it will usually be unnoticed, unless the cream was too sour.

Rhubarb and Pear Salad.—Bake two cupsful of rhubarb with a half a cupful of sugar added when nearly cooked. Let stand to chill. Mix together four tablespoonfuls of olive oil, two of lemon juice, a teaspoonful of sugar, salt and cayenne pepper to taste. Arrange the rhubarb, which should be tender but not broken, with six halves of canned pears on a bed of lettuce; pour over the dressing, sprinkle with chopped candied ginger and serve.

Frozen Prune Fluff.—Soak a pound of prunes overnight in three plants of water. In the morning add sugar to sweeten and the rind of half an orange; cook until the prunes are tender. Strain off the juice and remove the peel. Stone the prunes and rub them through a sieve; add the juice, a half-cupful of finely chopped walnuts and two unbeaten egg whites, then freeze. Serve garnished with orange marmalade.

Amber Marmalade.—Put one grapefruit, one lemon and one orange, through the meat grinder; add ten cupfuls of water and let stand overnight, then cook until tender; let stand again overnight, add ten cupfuls of sugar and cook until thick. Put into glasses and seal as usual.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, June 25.—The Wittenberg M. E. Church last Sunday gave Children's Day exercises which reflected great credit on the members of the church in having the children so perfect in their parts.

Among the arrivals during the past week at the Sunset View House were Miss Rose Gieraghty accompanied by her mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Duffy, together with his mother and sister.

EGGS OF ANY DESIRED SIZE

Expert of United States Department of Agriculture Has Adopted Gauge for Farmers.

Mr. Frank C. Hare, in his work for the United States department of agriculture among the South Carolina farmers, has adopted the accompanying egg gauge so that the farmers can select eggs of the desired size. An egg that will not enter the hole crosswise is a standard sized egg and will weigh two ounces or more. An egg whose smaller dimensions is less than one and five-eighths inches, the distance der certain conditions. For instance, the size of spurs generally distinguishes a two-year-old bird; yet the writer has had young birds develop spurs that would have done credit to older birds. On the other hand, he has had two-year-old birds with spurs that were as short and rounded as those of a cockerel. To some extent the texture of the leg is a guide, and so is the delicacy and freshness of the skin of the face and comb. Yet there will be occasional hens that have a youthful appearance to a remarkable degree.

Probably a better test is the skin of the body, that of the older fowl being coarser and drier in appearance. A pullet will show rose-colored veins on the surface of the skin under the wings. Long silky hairs will also be grown there; but after the pullet has become a year old these hairs and veins will disappear and the skin will grow white and veinless.

It is more difficult to determine the age of water fowls than it is of other poultry.

COOPS FOR FATTENING HENS

Object is to Reduce Exercise and Increase Consumption of Fat-Producing Materials.

Fattening rations are not complicated or need not be to bring fair results. The principle of fattening is to reduce the exercise and increase the consumption of fat-producing food. If the farmer possesses a number of small shed-roof brood coops such as are used for sitting hens with chicks, these coops will be fine for fattening hens. Each coop will accommodate about five hens without opportunity for fighting or scratching. Feed them three times each day from a pan containing a sloppy mixture of sour milk and corn meal and allow the hens to eat all they will consume. After each feeding remove the pan so that any remaining feed will not become contaminated with dirt and cause the birds to lose their appetites.

An Egg Gauge.
between the two points of the gauge, is rejected for sending to market. It might be well to fashion one for your own use.

DETERMINE AGE OF POULTRY

While There Is No Positive Rule to Go By There Are Certain Conditions to Guess By.

Strictly speaking, there is no positive test for the age of poultry. However, a close guess can be made un-

KINGSTON H. S. CLASS DAY 1918

Another large audience gathered at the Kingston High School on Monday evening to enjoy, with the graduates, the Class Day of 1918. Now as a general thing class day exercises are of keen interest to the students and their immediate friends but hold little interest for outsiders. What with originality and cleverness and a lack of silliness, the Class Day this year was thoroughly enjoyed by all in the audience. The stage was attractively decorated with a border of erect and quite soldierly white daisies and clusters of the "Blueweed," the class colors being blue and white. When the class of fifty-two students, the young ladies in their pretty dainty colored gowns were assembled on the stage behind the mass of flowers, the picture was indeed charming.

The program opened with a piano selection, "Valse," by Chopin, played with rare artistic merit and grace by Marie Ferrill, whose playing is remarkably musically.

The president's address was then delivered by Ernest Palen, who welcomed the audience in behalf of the class, and asked their indulgence for the evening's nonsense which was always a part of Class Day exercises. He told of how the class had worked and waited four long years for this event of graduation, and of how little they thought when they first entered upon their academic career that it could end in the horrors of a war such as today engulfs the world. The class recognized that their fathers had undertaken a task which they could not complete, and it was the purpose of the members of 1918 to do all in their power to further and finish that task as worthily as possible. After extending a few sincere words of appreciation to the faculty, Mr. Palen announced the next speaker, Russell Dana, who delivered the address to "The Faculty." Gratitude and the deepest appreciation marked this address, in which Mr. Dana especially gave thanks for the friendship which had grown up between teachers and students during the four years, many phases of which had developed as all had co-operated in the various war campaigns. Confidence in and affection for the new principal, Mr. Lewis, were warmly expressed.

A particularly bright and interesting number on the program was the class history given by Vivian O'Neil, who noted the fact that the class of 1918 was the last freshman class of the two academies. They had eagerly watched the growth and completion of the present building, and Miss O'Neil paid a fine tribute to Principal Moulton, who had so well carried through the difficult task of amalgamating the two classes from the two old academies. She told of the plan to raise funds for a class trip to Washington during the senior year, and of the turning over of the funds gathered for patriotic purposes. There was much of humor in the history which also spoke in glowing terms of the "new leader, the wise councillor, the staunch friend," found in Mr. Lewis. This class had purchased and presented to the academy the service flag, carrying forty stars, only one of which belonged to the class, that which stood for Lawrence McHugh. They had helped in countless patriotic ways on occasions giving up their planned good times to serve their country in some other way.

The class orator, Nelson Miles, made the war and our debt to France the theme of a glowing, earnest oration. After nearly a century and a half, Mr. Miles showed that we are today, with our men even more than our money, paying that debt with interest, and thankful that we may so meet our obligation to our sister republic, France.

Dorothy Downer, the class poet, apostrophized France, in an original poem of dignified lines and sincere and patriotic sentiment.

Peter Ryan's "Advice to the Juniors," was full of the time honored superiority of the senior, with much good-natured rally, some encouragement and an unusual amount of friendliness. In closing he relegated the unfinished task of gratitude from the class of 1918 to Principal Lewis to the class of 1919.

An admirable reply was given by Lloyd LeFevre, president of the class of '19, who in addition to the somewhat sarcastic acceptance of the advice received, spoke in appreciation of the inspiration received from '18, in the amount of work which they had done for the Red Cross, and hoped that '19 would do as well. He further called attention to the mutual friendship between the two classes, which had withstood the trials of competition, and in closing extended the best wishes of 1919 to the seniors "whose greatness and knowledge should lead many to the following of higher and nobler ideals."

Miss Anna Cassler, the class elocutionist, gave a thrilling and intensely realistic presentation of that heart-stirring war poem of today, "Vive Le France!" It was indeed heart-grIPPING.

Absolute originality marked the address of the class critic, Eugene Ryan, who considering the class of 32 girls and 20 boys, ranging in age from 16 to 22, as a composite whole, offered the following deductions. He considered the composite age of the class, 300 years to be such as to carry much wisdom with it, while the towering height of 275 feet was sufficient to enable them to overlook all their enemies. Their weight, 6,057 pounds would make a very considerable impression upon the world. Wearing a No. 24 1/2 glove, they should be able to grasp any situations firmly. And with a head of such capacity as to wear a No. 27 1/2 hat, mental success must surely be theirs. Nor could they fail to gain a firm and fast foothold in life, wearing a No. 157 shoe. At all events, this remarkable class was going forth prepared to do their best.

The Class Prophecy, given by Miss Emily Crosby, was in the form of an exceptionally clever letter from Paris, whither one of the members of '18 had gone to take part in reconstruction work. The prophecy was so full of water impossibilities, or improbabilities, and of up-to-date ideas as to create much merriment both among the class members and in the audience.

To Miss Agnes Smith was delegated the Class Legacy, and her bequests were also clever and full of good-natured rally betokening considerable ingenuity in their choice.

After the legacies had all been distributed, President Palen called Miss Paulding to the stage and in behalf of the class expressed their appreciation of her splendid, patient cheerful work among them all, and their sincere regret at her departure. After wishing her happiness and success Mr. Palen presented Miss Paulding with a little box. The whole affair entirely overcame Miss Paulding, who having recovered from her surprise and pleasure before leading the class song with which the program closed, bespoke with much feeling, her gratitude, not only for the beautiful gift, a long string of pearls (which instantly brought to her mind "The Rosary"), but for the sentiment which prompted the gift. Miss Paulding also took occasion at this time to thank her host of Kingston friends who had made her sojourn in Kingston such a happy one, for all their kindness to her.

Another gift was then presented by the class president, that of a beautiful American flag, given directly to Principal Lewis, who in expressing his gratitude for the timely gift, spoke with feeling of the loyal friendship of the class members, and furthermore complimented them upon their alertness and initiative they had seen the need of a service flag and had made the gift. Now they had seen the need of an American flag to be the emblem of the school and had given that which was so gratefully accepted, and he prophesied that if they continued to have the forward vision they would indeed make their place in the world.

The exercises closed with the fine class song, written by Olga Owens, a member of the class, with music by Miriam Pitts, a member of the Junior class.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Sunday and Monday's toll of measles in Kingston resulted in only four new cases being reported to the health board. It would seem that the epidemic is on the wane.

Miss Bates, the child welfare nurse recently engaged by the health board, was expected in Kingston today. The Jacobson building on Hasbrouck avenue, near Murray street, has been leased by the board to be used as a child welfare station. The station will be opened shortly.

City Clerk Doremus received word this morning that a chauffeurs' examination would be held at the city hall the morning of July 3 at 9 o'clock instead of the afternoon of July 2 as originally planned.

This morning two members of the street department were seen down town armed with sprinkling pots and it was thought at first they had been assigned for duty on the brick pavement to take the place of the sprinkling cart. It turned out, however, that they were using the sprinkling cans to water the weeds in the street on the East Pierpont street hill, off Broadway, with a preparation to kill the weeds.

The following matters will be discussed and ideas exchanged:

Reclassification of recent marriages; reclassification or review of agricultural and industrial exemptions; release under the rules of parties engaged in non-productive occupations; matters generally affecting the selective service.

In the notice of the meeting received by the local boards it is stated that the committee desires that at least one member of each of the local boards and the appeal agent of the board attend.

Modena Red Cross Entertainment.

The Modena Branch of the New Paltz Red Cross Auxiliary of which Mrs. Myron L. Shultis is president, gave an entertainment in the Modena M. E. Church on Thursday evening, June 20. The church was crowded to standing room and the net receipts from the entertainment and sale of cake and cream cleared the handsome sum of $57. The success of the entertainment was largely due to the following persons, who so willingly assisted: Mrs. Seward of New Paltz, who gave a piano solo; Mrs. George Pratt of Highland, who sang a beautiful solo; reading by Mrs. Olds of the New Paltz Normal School faculty; a violin solo by Miss Christell of New Paltz Normal School; solo by Miss Hiltz of New Paltz. Several solos were beautifully rendered by Mrs. Kerr of New York city. The entire program was greatly appreciated by all present and the grand success was due to the officers of the auxiliary and in future an entertainment will be held monthly for this worthy cause.

ANTI-LOAFING LAW.

Government Agencies Will Assist in Finding "Productive" Positions.

The provisions of the anti-loafing law which goes into effect the first of July have been published in The Freeman. The law is a very complicated one and has every person guessing. Local boards for Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county received a bulletin today from the adjutant general's office giving a summary of the law, and stating that government employment agencies would help those in non-productive positions to find productive employment. The boards are instructed to furnish to the government agents the names and addresses of those registrants in non-productive employment to whom notice to appear has been given, and also to furnish the names and addresses of registrants who may require for information in respect to a change of employment. The bulletin says that the boards should refer registrants seeking such employment to agents of the United States employment service.

JENNIE'S HUSBAND RELENTED MONDAY

And Desired to Withdraw Complaint Lodged By Him Against Her For Stealing $105 —They Are Going To Canada.

Frank Manuso of No. 39 Chambers street, who had his wife, Jennie, arrested on a charge of stealing $105 from him, relented Monday afternoon when his wife was removed to the county jail and wanted to withdraw the charge.

Judge Schirick held a consultation with District Attorney Traver and County Judge Jenkins and finally decided to allow Frank to withdraw the charge. The reason for permitting the charge to be withdrawn was the fact that Frank and Jennie have decided to remove from Kingston and go to Canada.

This morning Jennie and Frank called to see Judge Schirick about securing a paper from the court commanding relatives in Poughkeepsie to give Jennie some of her clothing she had there. She was informed that Poughkeepsie was not under the court's jurisdiction and that she should see Judge Conger of Poughkeepsie if he had trouble in getting her clothing.

Jennie and Frank's call was most opportune this morning for Mrs. Minnie Anderson, a neighbor, was present in the court room seeking a warrant for Jennie's arrest on a charge of refusing to give Mrs. Anderson back her watch.

Judge Schirick decided to have the matter sifted before issuing a warrant and Mrs. Anderson gave her side of the story. It developed that some time ago she was in need of fifty cents and Jennie gave her that amount and Mrs. Anderson left her watch as security. Since then she was willing to repay the money and get her watch back, but Jennie said she did not have the watch.

Mrs. Anderson valued the watch at $5 she said.

After some talk Mrs. Manuso informed her husband that it would be best to settle unless he desired to see her in jail and she had just left jail and from her appearance it was evident she was on the verge of tears.

Frank finally gave Mrs. Anderson $2 and will give her the balance of six dollars after he sold his furniture. In the meantime if he finds the watch he is going to return it and Mrs. Anderson agreed to return the $2 advanced on account this morning.

According to the police they will not feel particularly sorry to see Mrs. Manuso leave town.

Church Trouble at Millbrook.

SUGGESTION FOR FOURTH OF JULY

A Subscriber Writes It Would be a Good Idea to Have Inspection and Parade of Fire Department That Day.

In connection with the patriotic celebration and parade on the Fourth of July in Kingston a Freeman subscriber has written The Freeman the following letter:

"Just a word in regard to the Fourth of July celebration. I would suggest that the fire commissioners have an inspection of the paid and volunteer fire department. There has been no inspection and parade held in this city in years. Other cities have a parade and inspection every year, and if Kingston had one that day it would help make the celebration a success."

The Freeman passes along the letter and suggestion it contains to the fire board for whatever action it may decide to take.

Fruit Delayed by Train.

Train 13, north bound, on the West Shore Railroad, due at Union Station, this city at 7:10 p. m., did not arrive until 8:45 Monday evening, being over one and one-half hours late. This train, besides carrying the last evening mail from New York also carries the 3 o'clock edition of the New York evening papers. The West Shore railroad is not running a fruit train this season, the loaded fruit cars for Boston, Mass., being now picked up by train No. 13 at Marlborough, Milton, Highland and Esopus, and as red ant-werps, currants and late strawberries, besides some cherries are now being expressed to the Boston market the afore-mentioned train will be running late for some time because of delay in making the pick-ups.

You Fight When You Save!
A Country worth fighting for
is a Country worth saving for.

Each is a duty and both are
acts of the highest patriotism.

The Thrift Stamp movement
is one of the best things that could have happened to us; it is teaching every man, woman and child of us the glory of learning
to save wisely.

"Saving wisely" does NOT mean hoarding. Hoarding cramps the mind; dwells the soul; brings out all that is petty
and mean in human nature.

Thrift—REAL thrift, is not
only the saving of money, but
the USING of money so that it will be of the greatest benefit not only to one's self, but to others.

"Dollar Days" will enable
everyone to save money while
spending it—to save, that all may
—buy more Thrift Stamps!

By concentrating your purchases at Van Wageningen's this week, your reward in savings
will enable you to greatly increase your buying of U. S. S.

Line Up and Sign Up on June 28th

OR Sign a pledge to take and pay for War Stamps before that date.

If you don't sign the Pledge Card when presented by one of the War Stamps Campaign Workers before June 28th, you will have to appear at the designated station and do it there, or go on record as not being willing to.

Be Generous

And when you sign for a Pledge Card, go the limit. If, in all decency, your limit is Five Stamps at a little over $4 each, to be paid for before the end of the year, sign for the Five Stamps. Don't sign for one or two.

If your limit is Ten Stamps, sign for the Ten Stamps, don't try to "get by" by signing for two stamps.

And if your limit, in reason, is Fifty Stamps or One Hundred Stamps, sign for such a number.

Then your card will bear close inspection and scrutiny and will reflect your interest in winning the war and your 100 per cent Americanism.

Don't try to cheat, or to fool your Uncle Sam. You can't do it if you want to, because he knows what you can afford to do. And you shouldn't want to do this, even if you could.

NATIONAL ARMY DRILL TONIGHT

This evening the men called for service shortly in the new National Army will meet for drill at the armory. These drills are held every Tuesday and Friday evening at the armory and are proving a success. There is an average attendance at the drills of between 25 and 30 young men. They are now drilling with guns. Invitations have been sent to every one of the young men who recently registered. These drills give the coming soldier an excellent opportunity of becoming accustomed to the work that faces them when they reach training camp, and every young man who expects to leave for camp should make it a point to attend the drills.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 25.—There was a general selling movement in the stock market during the first fifteen minutes today causing declines of about a point in all the active issues. The selling came chiefly from commission house clients. Steel common showed a gain of 1/4 at the start at 109 1/4 but sold down to 107 1/4 before the end of the first fifteen minutes. Bethlehem Steel moved in the same way, making a gain of 1/4 to 86 1/4, and then dropped to 85 1/4, and Baldwin after selling at 95 declined to 94 1/4. The specialties, which had been strong recently, were also in supply at concessions. United Cigar Stores declined to 102 1/4, and Tobacco Products to 65 1/4. Reading sold down from 91 1/4 to 90 1/4.

After early declines the market turned strong, many stocks making brisk advances. U. S. Steel rallied to 108 1/4 and Baldwin recovered all the initial losses. Marine Preferred advanced from 102 1/4 to 103 1/4 and General Motors sold up to 149.

The market continued irregular all through the afternoon. American Sumatra Tobacco became a prominent feature advancing 1/4 to 143. There was active trading in Bethlehem Steel which rose 1 1/4 to 87 1/4. U. S. Steel after rallying to 108 1/4, reacted to 107 1/4.

The market closed steady today; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

DOLLAR DAYS TO HELP W. S. S.

This week everyone you meet seems to have a serious expression, which for the most part has been caused by the honest purpose of the individual to do all in his or her power to help along the War Savings Stamp Thrift campaign.

We all realize that we must do our part, but how are we going to do it with prices soaring with balloon-like buoyancy, and incomes sitting tight? It's some problem. Enough to make everybody serious. Most folks are taking a microscopic inspection of all possibilities of further savings of dollars with which to buy stamps.

Business men have been and still are doing their bit to help out, and the Van Wagenen store has come into line by offering the women of Kingston and surrounding country, three "dollar days" Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, during which time they will offer goods of all sorts for one dollar, which if purchased now before the balloon goes any higher, will mean an actual saving in the immediately future purchasing of necessities, that will help on the stamp buying. The women who look over the advertisement of this sale on page 5 of tonight's Freeman will be able to figure out the matter for themselves.

And "careful figuring" whether it be for economy, or real generosity, is now the order of the day. It will pay all readers of The Freeman to look well through the paper from day to day, and then do some "careful figuring" to see how they can come out financially to the best advantage.

ADMINISTRATIONS
SPLIT ON BOOZE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 25.—The administration split open today on the prohibition question and gave congress divided counsel on the Jones "Bone dry" amendment.

Postmaster General Burleson, joined forces with Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, in urging the defeat of the amendment, while Secretary of the Navy Daniels, in the most emphatic language, testified to the excellent effect of prohibition in the navy and in navy shipyards.

"Don't experiment with a nation's destiny—don't take any chances," was Mr. Hurley's advice.

"This is no time to have patience with fanatics—we must get down to hard cases," said Postmaster General Burleson.

"Liquor never promoted efficiency anywhere," was Secretary Daniels's statement.

Bainbridge Colby, member of the shipping board, recalled to the stand reiterated his statement of last week to the effect that prohibition would cripple the shipping program.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, voiced the protest of the workmen against the enactment of bone dry prohibition.

SOON BE CALLED

Private Altamari, Ponckhockie's Well Known Candy Maker, Now at Bordeaux, France, Writes Interesting Letter.

Frank Spadafora, of 261 East Strand, has received an interesting letter from Private Michael Alta-mari, Company B, 302nd Ammunition Train, American Expeditionary Forces, via New York. Private Alta-mari in civilian life was Ponck-hockie's well known ice cream and candy manufacturer and has a host of friends in the lower section of the city.

He writes "Just a few lines to let you know that I am in the best of health, and hope you are the same.
Well, Frank, I am still here in camp
near Bordeaux, but we expect to leave here soon. I had a pass last Sunday to go to Bordeaux and it sure is some place.

"We were told around here that Bordeaux is a place of about one half million population, and it is somewhat lively place. It puts me in mind of New York city. I only had a couple of hours in the city so I did not see much of it.

"I suppose you people back home
are all excited with those German U-boats coming along the coast, sinking
the vessels. Don't leave a little thing like that worry you, for that is only one of the Kaiser's bluffs which he is trying to pull off. For the day will come and I hope it will be soon, when we will show him how far his bluffs go with the U. S. boys, and I think he is now starting to realize what he is up against."

Private Altamari closes with a few personal words and the request that the letter be answered soon.

SOLDIERS TREATED WELL.

All Say That Army Life Agrees
With Them.

The members of the local boards here have received letters from many of the boys in the service, and the boys all speak in complimentary
terms of the way in which they are treated in the army. The letters from the boys in the navy are also in the same spirit. They all say that Uncle Sam treats his soldiers and sailors well, gives them plenty of substantial food and looks after their general welfare. As one of the boys puts it, "This is the life."

WANTS TO FIGHT
AT 78 YEARS OF AGE

Veteran of Civil War From Old Soldiers' Home on the Pacific Offers Services to Postmaster De-Witt.

A physically stolid, well preserved man with a weather-darkened complexion and iron-grey hair,
walking with head up and military
step, entered the post office Monday
and asked to be permitted to congratulate Postmaster DeWitt on the
"successful action he is engaged in against the enemy." The postmaster, with his fond smile, received
the congratulation with extended hand. The stranger looked like a man of fifty. On his breast were pinned a number of badges. Grasping the postmaster's hand with no light grip he shot back a smile with the spread to it that beat the post-master's.

"Anything he could do, he queried, to help the cause? He had in the past offered his services at the recruiting agency in Los Angeles, Cal., and this was their reply:
"You have done enough. Go back home. Be satisfied. There are enough others to take your place!"

The old gentleman is 78 years old next October 1st. He fought in the Civil War in the 56th N. Y. Infantry. He was born in Newburgh.
The National Home for Civil War veterans keeps a bed and plate ready for him. He is now "on a visit to relatives and friends in old
New York."

LUTHERAN MISSIONS.

Fund of $30,000 to be Raised for Home Work.

The Atlantic District of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri,
Ohio and other states is conducting a campaign for Home Missions during the last weeks in June. The object is to raise an emergency fund of $30,000 for mission work in the Atlantic District.

The district covers the New England States, New Jersey, and New York as far west as Utica. The campaign headquarters are in the bank
of the Metropolitan Building, New York city. The Rev. F. P. Wilhelm, superintendent of missions, is in charge of the campaign.

The war has brought about a crisis in the home mission work, not of other churches also. Many pastors have been drawn into army and navy work. The divinity schools and seminaries are being depleted
through the draft. The rising cost of living has made the salaries of missionaries entirely inadequate. In the eastern states the situation has been accentuated by the mushroom growth of the large industrial centers.

The present campaign has been organized to meet these difficulties.
At the same time it is a desire to strengthen the spiritual forces of America in this war.

One hundred and thirty congregations and missions are taking part in the campaign. Nearly all of them report great enthusiasm and
the prospects are that the goal will be reached. Several congregations have already exceeded their apportionment.

It is planned to open new missions on Long Island, in New Jersey, within New York, Vermont and the Boston metropolitan district.

Smokeless Powder.
The advantages of smokeless powder, besides its virtue of high explosiveness, are twofold. It does not create a smoke cloud that betrays the location of the gun or gunners, and at the same time the man behind the gun is not confused for a second by a pall of smoke that obscures the range of vision in the direction of the enemy.

There must be no let-up in wheat saving. Our wheat stocks are becoming lower and lower and the demands of the allies for a minimum amount to keep them from distress still continue. September with the new wheat crop promises a relief but not a remedy. So long as the war continues and for some time thereafter
we must use wheat sparingly.

Rice Bread.

1 cup cold boiled rice, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon melted fat.
Beat the egg until it is light. Add the other ingredients and beat the mixture well. Turn it into a greased pan, making a layer 1/4 to 1/2 inch thick, and bake it in a moderate oven until it is firm. Rice bread may be served hot for breakfast or cut in small pieces and used as a border for lamb fricassee.

Peanut Loaf.
1 cup peanut butter, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, salt, pepper.
Mix ingredients in order given and bake for 45 minutes in a shallow pan.

Jellied Vegetables.
2 tablespoons gelatin soaked in 1/2 cup cold water for 10 minutes.
Add 1/2 cup vinegar, 2 cups boiling water, 1/2 cup sugar, and teaspoon salt. Strain and when the mixture begins to thicken, add any left over vegetables on hand, such as string beans, peas, beets, chopped cabbage, celery, cucumber or pepper. Turn into a mould, first dipped in cold water and chill. Serve with or without lettuce and mayonnaise.

Maple Custard With Meringue.
Maple Custard—1 1/4 cups milk, 1/2 tablespoon cornstarch, 4 tablespoons maple syrup, 1 egg yolk, salt, flavoring, if desired.
Heat 1 cup of the milk, and add the cornstarch which has been mixed with 1/4 cup of cold milk. Cook the mixture until it is smooth, stirring constantly. Add the beaten egg gradually, and when it is thickened, add the syrup. Chill the sauce before serving.

Maple Meringue—1 egg white, 2 tablespoons maple syrup, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

KINGSTON NAMES ON BORDEAUX Y LIST

Loughran and Conway Had Been There—Found a Swimming Hole Near Camp—Weather to Make Heine Feel at Home.

President James E. Connelly of The Freeman Social Club has received the following letter from one of the five club members now in France:

Camp de Souge, June 6, 1918.

Dear Jim:

There isn't a devil of a lot to write and I have so god-damn many letters to write that I don't know how to begin. I guess by now you know where I am stationed at present. As far as the war is concerned I might as well be over in Port Ewen or South Rondout; for we don't see a darn thing except once in a while an aeroplane loop the loop or takes a nose dive just to keep us amused. Of course I am well within the sound of the guns (at target practice). I might tell you how near the shot and shell scream overhead and burst in the rear of us back in the last line trenches. For you see the range is on one side of camp and the guns on the other and they shoot over our heads at the practice trenches out on the range. Might also tell you how I am within sound of enemy voices for we have a bunch of prisoners here. But what is the use when you know that I am only about 20 kilometers from Bordeaux and a good one day's trip by automobile and two days of trip from the front.

Yes, Sherman knew all about war and then some. I guess I have tested out the war end but the other place I can't tell of yet.

I am having some difficulty in writing for I am using a three legged washstand for a desk and it is like some of the boys after pay day, just a bit uncertain on its legs.

Say Jim, I would like to tell you some of the stunts we have pulled off over in this adopted home of ours. I have quite a collection, too. I never knew you could pack so much real, new experiences in six short months. I agree with you when you say, "See America First," but by all means see Europe and especially France, after you have seen America.

It is hotter out here than it is at 3:25 p. m. up in the composing room on a good hot summer's day. I guess Heine will feel at home, for he will probably think he is walking on one big steam table, that if he should ever hit this part of the country.

I was down town last Sunday and went over to the "R" where I found Jim Loughran's name and one of the Conways' name on the "R" register. The old town is represented at least.

Say, you ought to hear the peculiar sounds we get off and call French. I somehow can make myself understood at that. The first thing we learn is, "Où est le commandement?" And the third thing is, "Je ne comprends pas," which means, I don't understand, and that is what we usually are saying when a French man (or woman) talks to us.

A few of us boys have found a pond where we can get a swim. It is about five miles from camp, but it is worth the trip. I was going down tonight, but had to work, so could not make it. It's one of those places where you hang your clothes on the bushes and if anyone comes along you submerge until they have passed, for even one piece suits are not to be found in camp.

From what Y. C. H. Editor writes there has been some change in newspaper circles since I left. Pretty nearly everyone has left, got fired or been drafted. But I guess The Freeman will come through at last, judging from the samples I set at times. I average about 1-3 of the numbers and it seems to me the old town is just booming. You always seem to be able to put over some good stuff every day.

Life down here is just one dull day after another, with lots of chance to move some time. It seems funny that all of the fellows who wanted to get down here in the south were sent up to Paris or even nearer the front while it was my luck to come down here. There is little use to ask for a change of station in this outfit, for you go where you are sent and stay-boring, he it first line trenches or 300 miles in the rear.

I have about "steven letters to answer, so must make it snappy. So close with best regards to you and the bunch. I am,

PVT. FRED HOFFMAN.

Bigelow to Speak at Shady.

On the afternoon of July 4, Poultry Bigelow will deliver a patriotic address at that popular summer inn, The Sawkill Farmhouse, at Shady, which is being so successfully operated as an inn, for the first time this summer by the two noted artists, Dering Woodward and Louise Johnson. The exercises at which Mr. Bigelow will be the most notable speaker, will take place on the spacious lawn, which will accommodate a host of people, and Miss Woodward and Miss Johnson extend a cordial invitation to their friends in Kingston to be present and an equally cordial invitation to all who would care to be present on this notable occasion. The exercises will take place at 4 o'clock. Undoubtedly the well known hospitality of the hostesses, together with the fame of the speaker, will draw a big crowd, for it is a delightful ride to the farmhouse, which is charmingly located near the old mill stream in the heart of the foothills of the Catskills.

My Visit at the Home of John Burroughs.

(By Max Schrabisch.)

It has been tersely remarked that the pride of a nation are its great literary men for the reason that they embody the highest thought of the race from which they have sprung. But for them, the world, in which we live, would be unbearably commonplace, without flavor and devoid of most all those things that alone make our existence worth living. Aristocrats of mind that they are, the ideals they hold are diametrically opposed to the gross materialism which brazenly stalks abroad and which has all but succeeded in enslaving and engulfing us by its appeal to our animal propensities. High living and low thinking being the slogan of the day, any influence apt to counteract the deplorable tendencies of our age is to be regarded as beneficial to the highest interests of mankind.

It is men of the type of John Burroughs that furnish an inspiring example to all that aspire to nobler things in that they do not allow themselves to be enthralled, body and soul, by the sordid business world. But, alas, how few pay the homage due to this venerable old sage of Ulster county, how few recognize his true worth! Take ideals reigning supreme, it is mostly the moneyed man or plutocrat that ranks high in public estimation, he alone being considered worthy of emulation as the presumable representative of what the world called success and the spurious prominence associated with it. To be sure, perverted popular opinion utterly fails to grasp the fact that true greatness is after all a matter of mind, of character, knowledge and ability, that it can never be a question of what we have but only of what we are, that, in short, man is accurately measured and appraised by the kind of mind he has.

When the writer called upon John Burroughs at West Park the other day, he was at once aware of being in the presence of a "man," even as Napoleon I exclaimed, "voilà un homme," after having visited Goethe. Although an octogenarian, John Burroughs' mind is as active as ever. His is, in truth, the mind of a man taking a profound interest in the great problems of science and life engrossing the attention of the leaders of thought. In the course of a conversation lasting more than an hour, the writer became impressed with his remarkable versatility and the wide range of subjects with which he was familiar. With characteristic modesty he disclaimed any particular knowledge of botany, saying that he knew only the commoner ones of the children of flora among the thousands indigenous to this country. As for birds and their mode of life, however, he admitted possessing better and somewhat more comprehensive information. And these statements out of the mouth of a naturalist famed far and wide for his intimate knowledge of nature in many of its branches. To some this may seem a case of inverted hypocrisy. For this being the truth, it was simply the expression of a humility so often a distinguishing trait of men towering head and shoulders above insignificant ordinary mortals.

Touching upon the subject of anthropology and the probable antiquity of the race, he proved to be conversant with the results of the most recent researches made both on this continent and in the old world. Thus, he was thoroughly familiar with Prof. Fairfield Osborn's classic work, "Men of the Old Stone Age." It forming part of his library and this library appeared to contain, apart from the writings of the great poets and philosophers of all the important works of present-day scientists, dealing with biology, chemistry, physics, astronomy, ornithology, psychology, etc.

His interest in modern psychology, with its theories on the sub-conscious and telepathic phenomena, in particular, seemed to be most pronounced and he waxed enthusiastic while speaking of his late friend, Prof. James of Harvard, whose investigations in this field of study had made him famous the world over. Speaking of the evolution theory and its auxiliary science, geology, John Burroughs manifested a lively interest in both these subjects, to the study of which he had, indeed, devoted much time for many years past, as they served to furnish him with many of the data for his most recent works containing his philosophy of life.

Most of the conversation took place on the back porch of his cottage, high upon the banks of Hudson river, with long stretches of the stream in plain view flowing majestically between verdant river terraces. A hummingbird alighting on a nearby shrub to sip the nectar of its blossoms, caused Mr. Burroughs to make some remarks on the unusually large number of robins nesting all about his cottage. When the writer expressed regret about his ignorance regarding birds, he at once offered to teach him, if he cared to come to Roxbury, Delaware county, the naturalist's birth place, where he intended spending the months of July and August. He added that, when there, he took vigorous exercise, making it a point to ascend the neighboring mountains whenever the weather and his bodily condition permitted, performing, though, this feat of mountain climbing by easy stages and resting at convenient springs.

At the suggestion of Mr. Burroughs the writer visited his log-cabin, named Shadside, about two miles southwest of his cottage. Here, at the edge of a swamp, flanked by a high ledge of rock, amid the green tress and wild flowers, Mr. Burroughs is wont to pass his afternoons writing stories and composing poetry. If the writer mistakes not, it was at Shadside that the naturalist wrote his well known book, entitled "Riverby."

A Patriotic Duty.

We owe it as a patriotic duty to ourselves and our friends to keep in a happy frame of mind. With depressed spirits we cannot do our best. And now, if ever, we should keep ourselves in such condition that we can fulfill to the utmost every duty imposed upon us. Let us cultivate daily the happy frame of mind which makes the rest of the world laugh with us.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONS SELDOM COME BACK

But Three Sets of Teams Have Accomplished This Feat.

Cubs, Tigers and Giants Are Only Clubs That Have Won Three Straight Pennants—St. Louis Browns Made Record.

If the Giants and White Sox meet in the world's series this fall they will be the fourth pair of teams to meet twice in succession for the title.

Baseball history dating back to 1884 shows that but three sets of teams have accomplished this feat before, and the Cubs and Tigers are the only teams in modern baseball history who have monopolized the big series for two straight years.

The famous Cubs of 1906 to 1908 won three straight pennants for Chicago in the National league, and their first world's series in modern competition between the National and American leagues resulted in defeat at the hands of the White Sox. The next two years, 1907 and 1908, the Cubs battled Detroit in the fall classic, and on both occasions they annexed the bunting.

Another interesting feature is the fact that the Cubs, Tigers and Giants are the only clubs that have won three straight pennants in either big league since the American league was formed.

In title series for the world's championship prior to the formation of the American league the Chicago Nationals and the famous old St. Louis Browns of the American association met two successive years for the championship—in 1885 and 1886. In 1895 and 1896 Cleveland and Baltimore met in what was known as the Temple Cup series, played between the first and second place clubs in the National league.

So the White Sox and Giants, picked by a majority of the critics to repeat in their respective leagues this year, have a chance to break into a rather exclusive class of world's series teams.

While mentioning past performances of ball clubs it appears that the old St. Louis Browns of Chris von Der Ahe established a record that will probably stand for many years to come. The Browns won four straight pennants in the old American association.

ASSISTANT MANAGER IS NEW

Coaches Are Things of Past in American League—Clarence Rowland Going It Alone.

There are no such things as coaches with American league clubs these days. The old-timers who get out on the lines and help move the runners around are "assistant managers." The club that doesn't have such a man is the manager is the exception. Here are some of the "assistant managers": Boston Red Sox, Charley Wagner; Cleveland Indians, Herman Schaefer; New York Yankees, Paddy O'Connor; St. Louis Browns, Jimmy Burke; Detroit Tigers, Bill Donovan; Washington, Nick Altrock and George McBride; Connie Mack has no assistant since Harry Davis retired and Clarence Rowland is going it alone except for a field captain since Kid Gleason quit him.

BODIE, MOST "KIDDED" PLAYER, IS YANK STAR

One of baseball's most ridiculed players is now the sensation of the Yankees. He is Ping Bodie, who has been kidded ever since he broke into the big leagues. Ping went to the White Sox heralded as a fence buster, and when he failed to live up to his reputation he was joshed so much that he had to leave the team.

But Bodie appears to have fanned himself. He has been largely instrumental in the rejuvenated Yanks winning. The club is climbing to the front, and Bodie's big stick is responsible.

Nothing Is Lost.

Everything lives, flourishes and decays. Everything dies but nothing is lost: For the great principle of life only changes its form and the destruction of one generation is the vivification of the next.—Good.

Set your pride in its proper place and never be ashamed of any honest calling.—Jean Ingelow.

Circumstances are beyond the control of man; but his conduct is in his own power.

DAINTY TABLE TRIFLES.

While strawberries are still too expensive for too frequent use, they may be used as a garnish or accessory, making a most tasty dish. A most delicious filling and icing for a cake may be made, using crushed fresh berries with a teaspoonful of lemon juice added and thickened with confectioners' sugar.

A few sliced berries may be used as a garnish for a gelatin dessert, for the sherbet cups of juleps or for squares of angel cake with whipped cream and berries for dessert.

A little sugar added to the roast or stew will add to the flavor and it will brown with a richer color. When the coffee cream has soured add a little soda and a teaspoonful of sugar; beat until well blended and it will usually be unnoticed, unless the cream was too sour.

Rhubarb and Pear Salad.—Bake two cupsful of rhubarb with a half a cupful of sugar added when nearly cooked. Let stand to chill. Mix together four tablespoonfuls of olive oil, two of lemon juice, a teaspoonful of sugar, salt and cayenne pepper to taste. Arrange the rhubarb, which should be tender but not broken, with six halves of canned pears on a bed of lettuce; pour over the dressing, sprinkle with chopped candied ginger and serve.

Frozen Prune Fluff.—Soak a pound of prunes overnight in three pints of water. In the morning add sugar to sweeten and the rind of half an orange; cook until the prunes are tender. Strain off the juice and remove the peel. Stone the prunes and rub them through a sieve; add the juice, a half-cupful of finely chopped walnut meats and two unbeaten egg whites, then freeze. Serve garnished with orange marmalade.

Amber Marmalade.—Put one grape-

fruit, one lemon and one orange, through the meat grinder; add ten cupfuls of water and let stand overnight, then cook until tender; let stand again overnight, add ten cupfuls of sugar and cook until thick. Put into glasses and seal as usual.

WITTENBERG.

Wittenberg, June 25.—The Wittenberg M. E. Church last Sunday gave Children's Day exercises which reflected great credit on the members of the church in having the children so perfect in their parts.

Among the arrivals during the past week at the Sunset View House were Miss Rose Geraghty, accompanied by her mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Duffy, together with his mother and sister.

Vincent Duffy is the son of Joseph Duffy, well known for years as one of the active workers and members of the Tammany Society of old Manhattan.

Lieut. Thomas S. Richards of the New York fire department, with his wife, is passing the season here. Lieut. Richards is best known as being the organizer of the Fire Department Band.

ALLABEN.

Allaben, June 24.—Mr. and Mrs. George E. Yerry and son, Joseph, have returned home after a few days' stay in Newark, N. J., where they had a very pleasant time.

George E. Yerry, contractor and builder, has Dr. Hideo Noguchi's bungalow nearly completed and it is a fine improvement to Shandaken. Mr. Yerry is very busy here and at Roxmore with building and livery business.

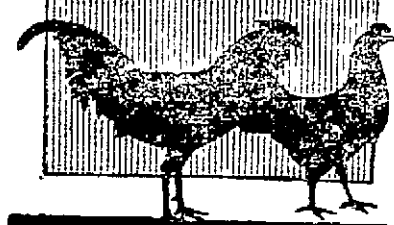

Elj Miller and Theodore A. Voss of Phenicia are doing carpenter work for George E. Yerry.

George E. Yerry was in Poughkeepsie last Friday where he attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, James Dunagan.

The Misses Carrie and Margaret Nilson of Newark, N. Y., are visiting Mrs. George E. Yerry.

A Handy Hammer Might Help. A Chicago minister says he doesn't think a street corner masher ought to be killed outright, as there may be a chance to reform him. Him! As the late Sam Jones used to say, you may be able to reform a scoundrel but what in the name of God can you do with a fool?

POULTRY

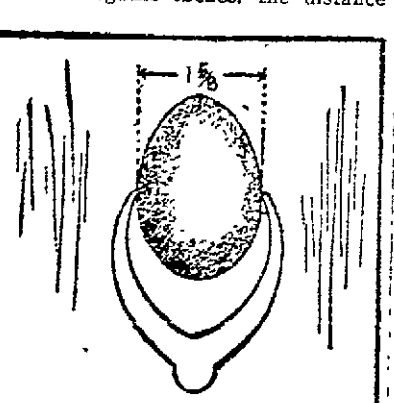

EGGS OF ANY DESIRED SIZE

Expert of United States Department of Agriculture Has Adopted Gauge for Farmers.

Mr. Frank C. Hare, in his work for the United States department of agriculture among the South Carolina farmers, has adopted the accompanying egg gauge so that the farmers can select eggs of the desired size. An egg that will not enter the hole crosswise is a standard sized egg and will weigh two ounces or more. An egg whose smaller dimensions is less than one and five-eighths inches, the distance between the two points of the gauge, is rejected for sending to market. It might be well to fashion one for your own use.

DETERMINE AGE OF POULTRY

While There is No Positive Rule to Go By There Are Certain Conditions to Guess By.

Strictly speaking, there is no positive test for the age of poultry. However, a close guess can be made under certain conditions. For instance, the size of spurs generally distinguishes a two-year-old bird; yet the writer has had young birds develop spurs that would have done credit to older birds. On the other hand, he has had two-year-old birds with spurs that were as short and rounded as those of a cockerel. To some extent the texture of the leg is a guide, and so is the delicacy and freshness of the skin of the face and comb. Yet there will be occasional hens that have a youthful appearance to a remarkable degree.

Probably a better test is the skin of the body, that of the older fowl being coarser and drier in appearance. A pullet will show rose-colored veins on the surface of the skin under the wings. Long silky hairs will also be grown there; but after the pullet has become a year old these hairs and veins will disappear and the skin will grow white and veinless.

It is more difficult to determine the age of water fowls than it is of other poultry.

COOPS FOR FATTENING HENS

Object Is to Reduce Exercise and Increase Consumption of Fat-Producing Materials.

Fattening fowls are not complicated or need not be to bring fair results. The principle of fattening is to reduce the exercise and increase the consumption of fat-producing food. If the farmer possesses a number of small shed-roof brood coops such as are used for sitting hens with chicks, these coops will be fine for fattening hens. Each coop will accommodate about five hens without crowding and they will have little opportunity for fighting or scratching. Feed them three times each day from a pan containing a sloppy mixture of sour milk and corn meal and allow the hens to eat all they will consume. After each feeding remove the pan so that any remaining feed will not become contaminated with dirt and cause the birds to lose their appetites.

Cleaning Pearls.

KINGSTON H. S. CLASS DAY 1918

Another large audience gathered at the Kingston High School on Monday evening to enjoy the graduation exercises, the Class Day of 1918. Now as a general thing class day exercises are of keen interest to the students and their immediate friends but hold little interest for outsiders. What with originality and cleverness and a lack of silliness, the Class Day year was thoroughly enjoyed by all in the audience. The stage was attractively decorated with a number of flowers and greenery, and the class colors, being blue and white. When the class of fifty-two students, the young ladies in their pretty dainty colored gowns were assembled on the stage behind the mass of flowers, the picture was indeed charming.

The program opened with a piano selection, "Valse," by Chopin, played with rare artistic merit and grace by Marie Ferrill, whose playing is remarkably beautiful.

The president's address was then delivered by Ernest Pelen, who welcomed the audience in behalf of the class, and asked their indulgence for the evening's program which was always a part of Class Day exercises. He told of how the class had worked and waited four long years for this event of graduation, and of how little they thought when they first entered upon their academic career that it could end in the horrors of a war such as today engulfs the world. The class recognized that their fathers had undertaken a task which they could not complete, and it was the purpose of the members of 1918 to do all in their power to further and finish that task as worthily as possible.

After extending a few sincere words of appreciation to the faculty, Mr. Pelen announced the next speaker, Russell Dana, who delivered the address to "The Faculty." Gratitude and the deepest appreciation marked this address, in which Mr. Dana especially gave thanks for the friendship which had grown up between teachers and students during the four years, many phases of which had developed as all had co-operated in the various war campaigns. Confidence, love and affection for the new principal, Mr. Lewis, were warmly expressed.

A particularly bright and interesting number on the program was the class history given by Vivian O'Neil, who noted the fact that the class of 1918 was the last freshman class of the two academies. They had eagerly watched the growth and completion of the present building, and Miss O'Neil paid a due tribute to Principal Moulton, who had so well carried through the difficult task of amalgamating the two classes from the two old academies. She told of the play to raise funds for a class trip to Washington during the senior year, and of the turning over of the funds gathered, for patriotic purposes. There was much of humor in the history which also spoke in glowing terms of the "new leader, the wise counsellor, the staunch friend, found in Mr. Lewis. This class had purchased and presented to the academy the service flag, carrying forty stars, only one of which belonged to the class, that which stood for Lawrence McHugh. They had helped in countless patriotic ways, on occasions saving up their planned good times to serve their country in some other way.

The class orator, Nelson Miles, made the war and our debt to France the theme of a glowing, earnest oration. After nearly a century and a half, Mr. Miles showed that we are today, with our men even more than our money, paying that debt with interest, and thankful that we may so meet our obligation to our sister republic, France.

For the first time, the class poet, apostrophized France, in an original poem of dignified lines and sincere and patriotic sentiment. Peter Ryan's "Advice to the Juniors" was full of the time honored superiority of the senior, with much good-natured raillery, some encouragement and an unusual amount of friendliness. In closing he relegated the unfinished task of gratitude from the class of 1918 to Principal Lewis to the class of 1919.

An admirable reply was given by Lloyd LeFevre, president of the class of '19, who in addition to the somewhat sarcastic acceptance of the advice received, spoke in appreciation of the inspiration received from '18, in the amount of work which they had done for the Red Cross, and hoped that '19 would do as well. He further called attention to the mutual friendship between the two classes, which had withstood the trials of competition, and in closing extended the best wishes of 1919 to the seniors "whose greatness and knowledge should lead many to the following of higher and nobler ideals."

Mrs. Anna Cassler, the class "clown," gave a thrilling and intensely realistic presentation of that heart-stirring war poem of today, "Vive Le France!" It was indeed heart-grIPPING.

Absolutely originality marked the address of the class critic, Eugene Ryan, who considering the class of 22 girls and 20 boys, ranging in age from 15 to 22, as a composite whole, offered the following deductions: He considered the composite as of the class, 500 years to be such as to carry much wisdom with it, while the towering height of 275 feet was sufficient to enable them to overlook all their enemies. Their weight, 8,057 pounds would make a very considerable impression upon the world. Wearing a No. 2417 glove, they should be able to grasp arising situations firmly. And with a head of such capacity as to wear a No. 273-23 hat, mental success must surely be theirs. Nor could they fail to gain a firm and fast foothold in life, wearing a No. 157 shoe. At all events, this remarkable class was going forth prepared to do their best.

The Class Prophecy, given by Miss Emily Crosby, was in the form of an exceptionally clever letter from Paris, written one of the members of '18 had gone to take part in reconstruction work. The prophecy was so full of later impossibilities, or improbabilities, and of up-to-date ideas as to create much merriment both among the class members and in the audience.

To Miss Agnes Smith was delegated the Class Legacy, and her bequest was also clever and full of good-natured raillery betokening considerable ingenuity in their choice.

After the legacies had all been distributed, President Pelen called Miss Paulding to the stage and in behalf of the class expressed their appreciation of her splendid, patient and cheerful work among them all, and their sincere regret at her departure. After wishing her happiness and success Mr. Pelen presented Miss Paulding with a little box. The whole affair entirely overcame Miss Paulding, who having recovered from her surprise and pleasure before leaving the class, sang "The Song of the Program," which she had written with much feeling, her gratitude not only for the beautiful gift, a long string of pearls (which instantly brought to her mind "The Rosary"), but for the sentiment which prompted the gift. Miss Paulding also took occasion at this time to thank her host of Kingston friends who had made her sojourn in Kingston such a happy one, for all their kindness to her.

Another gift was then presented by the class president, that of a beautiful American flag, given directly to Principal Lewis, who in expressing his gratitude for the timely gift spoke with feeling of the loyal friendship of the class members, and furthermore complimented them upon their alertness and initiative. They had seen the need of a service flag and had made the gift. Now they had seen the need of an American flag to be the emblem of the school and had given that which was so gratefully accepted, and he prophesied that if they continued to have the forward vision they would undoubtedly make their place in the world.

The exercises closed with the fine class song, written by Olga Owens, a member of the class, with music by Miriam Pitts, a member of the Junior class.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Sunday and Monday's toll of measles in Kingston resulted in only four new cases being reported to the health board. It would seem that the epidemic is on the wane.

Miss Bates, the child welfare nurse recently engaged by the health board, was expected in Kingston today. The Jacobson building on Hasbrouck avenue, near Murray street, has been leased by the board to be used as a child welfare station. The station will be opened shortly.

City Clerk Doremus received word this morning that a chauffeur's examination would be held at the city hall on Monday afternoon of July 2 as originally planned.

This morning two members of the street department were seen down town armed with sprinkling pots and it was thought at first they had been assigned for duty on the brick pavement in take the place of the sprinkling cart. It turned out, however, that they were using the sprinkling cans to water the weeds in the street on the East Pierpont street hill, off Broadway, with a preparation to kill the weeds.

LOCAL BOARDS TO MEET

To discuss Re-classification and Other Problems. Local Board for Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county will be represented at the meeting of the local boards of the southern judicial district, which includes Ulster and several other counties, at a well-attended meeting to be held at the court house at White Plains, Wednesday, June 26, at 2 o'clock. The following matters will be discussed and ideas exchanged:

Re-classification of recent marriages, reclassification or review of agricultural and industrial exemptions; release under the rules of the board of non-productive occupations; matters generally affecting the selective service.

In the notice of the meeting received by the local boards it is stated that the committee desires that at least one member of each of the local boards and the appeal agent of the board attend.

Modena Red Cross Entertainment.

The Modena Branch of the New Paltz Red Cross Auxiliary of which Mrs. Myron L. Skutis is president, gave an entertainment in the Modena M. E. Church on Thursday evening, June 20. The church was crowded to standing room and the net receipts from the entertainment and sale of cake and cream cleared the handsome sum of $57. The success of the entertainment was largely due to the following persons, who so willingly assisted: Mrs. Seward of New Paltz, who gave a piano solo; Mrs. George Pratt of Highland, who sang a beautiful solo, reading by Mrs. Olds of the New Paltz Normal School faculty; a violin solo by Miss Christy of New Paltz Normal School; solo by all their friends; Miss Hilt of New Paltz. Several solos were beautifully rendered by Mrs. Kert of New York city. The entire program was greatly appreciated by all present and the grand success was due to the officers of the auxiliary and in future an entertainment will be held monthly for this worthy cause.

ARMY LIFE HAS MANY BENEFITS

For the Men Who Perform Military Duties in the Proper Spirit—Kearney Says "We Will Come Back With Laurel of Victory"

The following letter has been received from Private Robert E. Kearney, a member of the Engineers Corps, stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis:

Fort Benj. Harrison, Ind., 52nd Engineers, Co. B, June 20 1918

Chairman Home Defense Committee.

Dear Sir: Your most welcome and sensible present received this date and I wish to heartily thank you for this very timely and thoughtful bag. It certainly makes me think that I have many friends back there who are still thinking of me and my duties which are so trying under military discipline on account of the different change in my work. But this life will surely benefit all men who take the proper interest in its many duties and well-being. Well, my dear friends, these little presents certainly help to cheer us up on our mission for the betterment of mankind and the righteousness of our cause in this strife of nations. We will try with our whole heart and every drop of good American blood to do our proper duties, whatever they may be, and to come back to you dear friends with the laurels of battle and honor and to make you proud of the boys of 1918. Also we realize your patriotic spirit in your branch of work and feel that all who you have helped in your mission or your part of doing your bit will certainly remember you back here and fight much harder so that you may live on fearlessly and proud of our glorious old Uncle Sam. Thanking you and the Home Defense League many, many times, I remain patriotically and sincerely yours.

ANTI-LOADING LAW.

Government Agencies Will Assist in Finding "Productive" Positions.

The provisions of the anti-loading law which goes into effect the first of July have been published in The Freeman. The law is a very complicated one and has every person guessing. Local boards for Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county received a bulletin today from the adjutant general's office giving a summary of the law, and stating that government employment agencies would help those in non-productive positions to find productive employment. The boards are instructed to furnish to the government agents the names and addresses of those registrants in non-productive employment to whom notice to appear has been given, and also to furnish the names and addresses of those registrants in non-productive employment who may inquire for information in respect to a change of employment. The bulletin says that the boards should refer registrants seeking such employment to agents of the United States employment service.

JENNIE'S HUSBAND RELENTED MONDAY

And Desired to Withdraw Complaint Lodged By Him Against Her For Stealing $105 —They Are Going To Canada.

Frank Manuso of No. 30 Chambers street, who had his wife, Jennie, arrested on a charge of stealing $105 from him, relented Monday afternoon when his wife was removed to the county jail and wanted to withdraw the charge.

Judge Schirick held a consultation with District Attorney Traver and County Judge Jenkins and finally decided to allow Frank to withdraw the charge. The reason for permitting the charge to be withdrawn was the fact that Frank and Jennie have decided to remove from Kingston and go to Canada.

This morning Jennie and Frank called to see Judge Schirick about securing a paper from the court commanding relatives in Poughkeepsie to give Jennie some of her clothing she had there. She was informed that Poughkeepsie was not under the court's jurisdiction and that she should see Judge Conger of Poughkeepsie if he had trouble in getting her clothing.

Jennie and Frank's call was most opportune this morning for Mrs. Minnie Anderson, a neighbor, was present in the court room seeking a warrant for Jennie's arrest on a charge of refusing to give Mrs. Anderson back her watch.

Judge Schirick decided to have the matter lifted before issuing a warrant and Mrs. Anderson gave her side of the story. It developed that some time ago she was in need of fifty cents and Jennie gave her that amount and Mrs. Anderson left her watch as security. Since then she was willing to repay the money and get her watch back, but Jennie said she did not have the watch.

Mrs. Anderson valued the watch at $5 she said. After some talk Mrs. Manuso informed her husband that it would be best to settle unless he desired to see her in jail and she had just left jail and from her appearance it was evident she was on the verge of tears.

Frank finally gave Mrs. Anderson $2 and will give her the balance of six dollars after he sold his furniture. In the meantime if he finds the watch he is going to return it and Mrs. Anderson agreed to return the $2 advanced on account this morning. According to the police they will not feel particularly sorry to see Mrs. Manuso leave town.

Church Trouble at Millbrook.

SUGGESTION FOR FOURTH OF JULY

A Subscriber Writes It Would be a Good Idea to Have Inspection and Parade of Fire Department That Day.

In connection with the patriotic celebration and parade on the Fourth of July in Kingston a Freeman subscriber has written The Freeman the following letter: "Just a word in regard to the Fourth of July celebration. I would suggest that the fire commissioners have an inspection of the paid and volunteer fire department. There has been no inspection and parade held in this city in years. Other cities have a parade and inspection every year, and if Kingston had one that day it would help make the celebration a success."

The Freeman passes along the letter and suggestion it contains to the fire board for whatever action it may decide to take.

Fruit Delayed by Train.

Train 13, north bound, on the West Shore Railroad, due at Union Station, this city, at 7:10 p. m., did not arrive until 8:45 Monday evening, being over one and one-half hours late. This train, besides carrying the last evening mail from New York also carries the 3 o'clock edition of the New York evening papers. The West Shore railroad is not running a fruit train this season, the loaded fruit cars for Boston, Mass., being now picked up by train No. 13 at Marlborough, Milton, Highland and Esopus, and as red ant-werps, currants and late strawberries, besides some cherries are now being expressed to the Boston market, the afore-mentioned train will be running late for some time because of delay in making the pickups.

ADMINISTRATIONS
SPLIT ON BOOZE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 25.—The administration split open today on the prohibition question and gave congress divided counsel on the Jones "Bone dry" amendment.

Postmaster General Burleson joined forces with Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, in urging the defeat of the amendment, while Secretary of the Navy Daniels, in the most emphatic language, testified to the excellent effect of prohibition in the navy and in navy shipyards.

"Don't experiment with a nation's destiny—don't take any chances," was Mr. Hurley's advice. "This is no time to have patience with fanatics—we must get down to hard cases," said Postmaster General Burleson.

"Liquor never promoted efficiency anywhere," was Secretary Daniels's statement. Balmbridge Colby, member of the shipping board, recalled to the stand, reiterated his statement of last week to the effect that prohibition would cripple the shipping program.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, voiced the protest of the workmen against the enactment of bone dry prohibition.

Letter.Frank Spadafora, of 261 East

letter from Private Michael Altamari, Company B, 302nd Ammunition Train, American Expeditionary Forces, via New York. Private Altamari in civilian life was Poughkeepsie's well known candy maker and has a host of friends in the lower section of the city.He writes: "Just a few lines to let you know that I am in the best of health, and hope you are the same.
Well, Frank, I am still here in camp
near Bordeaux, but we expect to leave here soon. I had a pass last month, and I am sure I will be home soon.""We were told around here that Bordeaux is a place of about one half million population, and it is somewhat lively place. It puts me in mind of New York city. I only had a couple of hours in the city so I did not see much of it.""I suppose you people back home
are all excited with those German U-boats coming along the coast, sinking
the vessels. Don't leave a little thing
like that worry you for that is only one of the Kaiser's bluffs which he is trying to pull off. For the day will come and I hope it will be soon, when
we will show him how far his bluffs
go with the U. S. boys, and I think
he is now starting to realize what he is up against."Private Altamari closes with a few personal words and the request that
the letter be answered soon.

SOLDIERS TREATED WELL.

All Say That Army Life Agrees
With Them.The members of the local board
here have received letters from
many of the boys in the service, and
the boys all speak in complimentary
terms of the way in which they are treated in the army. The letters from the boys in the navy are also in the same vein. They all say that Uncle Sam treats his soldiers and sailors well, gives them plenty of substantial food and looks after their general welfare. As one of the boys puts it, "This is the life."

Witt.A physically stolid, well preserved man with a weather-darkened complexion and iron-grey hair,
walking with head up and military
step, entered the post office Monday
and asked to be permitted to congratulate Postmaster DeWitt on the
"successful action he is engaged in
against the enemy." The postmaster, with his fond smile, received
the congratulation with extended
hand. The stranger looked like a man of fifty. On his breast were pinned a number of badges. Grasping
the postmaster's hand with no less grip he shut over a smile with the spread to it that beat the post-master's."Anything he could do, he queried, to help the cause? He said he had offered his services at the recruiting agency in Los Angeles, Cal., and this was their reply:"You have done enough. Go

LUTHERAN MISSIONS.

Fund of $30,000 to be Raised for Home Work.The Atlantic District of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Mis-souri
Ohio and other states is conducting
a campaign for Home Missions during the last weeks in June. The object is to raise an emergency fund of $30,000 for mission work in the Atlantic District.The district covers the New England States, New Jersey, and New York as far west as Utah. The campaign headquarters are in the bank
of the Metropolitan Building, New York city. The Rev. F. P. Wilhelm,
superintendent of missions, is in charge of the campaign.The war has brought about a crisis in the home mission work, not only of the Lutheran church, but of other churches also. Many pastors have been drawn into army and navy
work. The divinity schools and seminaries are being depleted
through the draft. The rising cost of living has made the salaries of missionaries entirely inadequate. In the eastern states the situation has
been accentuated by the mushroom
growth of the large industrial centers.The present campaign has been organized to meet these difficulties.
At the same time it is a desire to strengthen the spiritual forces of America in this war.One hundred and thirty congregations and missions are taking part in the campaign. Nearly all of them report great enthusiasm and
the prospects are that the goal will be reached. Several congregations
have already exceeded their apportionment.It is planned to open new missions on Long Island, in New Jersey,
within New York, Vermont and the Boston metropolitan district.

Smokeless Powder.

The advantages of smokeless powder, besides its title of high explosiveness, are twofold. It does not create a smoke cloud that betrays the location of the gun or gunners, and at the same time the men behind the gun is not confused for a second by a puff of smoke that obscures the range of vision in the direction of the enemy.Buy War Savings Stamps Every Month.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundant supply, are Victory Menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economies of the State College of Agriculture and endorsed by the New York State Food Commission.
